GOOD OUTLOOK FOR PROVINCE

Sir Richard McBride Delivers Optimistic Speech at Vancouver—No Cause for Any Misgivings.

HUGE EXPENDITURES ON RAILWAY WORK

New Lines Will Assist in Development of British Columbia—Amendments to Municipal Act.

VANCOUVER, June 25.—Promises of legislation looking to the improvement of the present system of municipal government and also in the direction of assisting the cause of town planning throughout the Province were features of the address delivered by Sir Richard McBride at the Progress Club luncheon today. Other important points in the address were a declaration of unbelief that Mr. Horne-Payne, of London, had cast reflections on Canadian municipal securities and a statement that the outlook for the Province was still of the best and need cause no misgivings. Apart from these four points, the Premier's speech was mainly confined to a resume of the progress made by the Province and an enumeration of the Government's plans to prepare for the expected influx after the opening of the Panama Canal.

The announcement that the Premier was to be the guest of honor attracted a record attendance of members, and although exceptional facilities had been prepared for seating a much larger crowd than usual, the accommodation was exhausted early and many were turned away. Mr. James Findlay, the president of the club, occupied the chair.

At the outset of his address Sir Richard paid a tribute to the work being done by the Progress Club, of which he was proud to be a member. The organization was being watched from abroad and it was recognized as a forceful entity, doing good work of nation-building. It was cultivating a thriving spirit and feeling of co-operation between Vancouver and its neighbors in the lower Fraser Valley. If the Province was to attain to the measure of growth and development it deserved, it would only be by engendering a spirit for co-operation. For the people of Vancouver had no need to fear in view of the endless possibilities of the Province. They were alive to their opportunities and all their undertakings were marked with a high conception of the potentialities of the city and Province.

Faith in British Columbia

The Premier then referred to the financial stringency and lassitude in trade. The dispatches in the press seem to indicate a wave of general depression. He would not subscribe to a statement of this kind so far as British Columbia was concerned (cheers). It was true that the real estate business was quiet and the public work in many places was being held back, but as far as this Province was concerned there was no need of becoming discouraged.

"Even in Vancouver," he continued, "there may be a small element who have 'cold feet' and who spread reports of trade depression. As a result they have their carpet bag handy. They move easily and I don't think the city will be a loser if they start and don't come back. I say to you, do not lose courage; the future of Vancouver cannot be questioned. This is bound to become a great city with a huge population.

"Just a few words on municipal finances. I read this morning the reported criticism of Mr. Horne-Payne on Canadian municipal securities. As far as investment in British Columbia is concerned, no single individual has directed so much capital to these parts as he has. I always found him a strong advocate of this Province, and I question if he could lend the weight of his name to any such statement.

Municipal Securities

"We must remember that when we go abroad for money we enter into competition with other parts of the world. They have all good stories to give of themselves and their development. I am quite satisfied that he did not make any statement that would impair the financial standing of the Province or the Dominion. The municipal securities of British Columbia are of high standing. In the past twenty-five years there has been only one case where those responsible for municipal indebtedness defaulted either in good times or in bad times. They are always equal to the emergency. It may be that the banking interests cannot handle our securities now as quickly as they did a few months ago; but this is a world-wide condition for which we are not responsible and for which there is no need for discouragement."

To Amend Municipal Act

The Premier then referred to the town-planning movement, which was making progress in the Province. The Government was in sympathy with the movement. There was a pretty fair assortment of towns and cities in British Columbia, but we should not be satisfied. If by legislation the Govern-

PROVINCIAL RAILWAY BELT

Reclamation Scheme Will Be Considered When Hon. W. J. Roche Arrives From England

OTTAWA, June 25.—Hon. W. J. Roche, Minister of the Interior, is expected to return to Ottawa from England at the end of this week, after two months' trip for a restoration of his health.

Among important problems awaiting his decision is a big proposition for a reclamation scheme in the railway belt of British Columbia. It also will be necessary to adopt a policy with regard to the number of questions regarding the Peace River country, into which settlement is pouring rapidly. The matter which is pressing is that of new grazing regulations. Some time ago a commission was appointed which reported in favor of certain regulations, and the matter awaits the minister's decision. A number of applications are pending awaiting the promulgation of the regulations.

Another question of some importance is the action to be taken with regard to patents for the lands of St. Peter's Indian reserve at Selkirk.

TO WELCOME NEW ZEALAND

Hon. J. D. Hazen Will Advance Date of His Visit to the Pacific Coast

OTTAWA, June 25.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will advance the date of his projected Western trip in order to reach the Pacific Coast by the latter part of July to welcome the battle cruiser New Zealand on behalf of the Canadian Government.

FREIGHT HEARING IS ADJOURNED

Board Will Resume Inquiry in September—Chairman Outlines Points on Which He Desires Argument.

OTTAWA, June 25.—With an indefinite adjournment, which the Government counsel asked to be set as late as possible, the now famous Western rate case completed another phase today. The cross-examination of W. B. Lanigan, Western freight traffic manager of the C. P. R., was continued in the afternoon by Isaac Pitblado, of Winnipeg, and W. A. Macdonald, of British Columbia. At the conclusion of this, Chairman Drayton, of the Board of Railway Commissioners, told H. W. Whittle that the exhibits now being prepared by J. P. Muller, the American rate expert, would have to be hurried.

Chairman Drayton finally fixed the time for the presenting of the final Muller exhibits in the hands of counsel at six weeks. Three weeks later counsel must be prepared to submit their criticism, in which there must be outlined the principles upon which it is desired that the board should take action.

"We must have no more enlargements and no more excuses," declared the chairman.

Comments on Evidence

Judging from the progress today, the hearing will be resumed about the middle of September. The chairman also made some pertinent remarks on the character of the evidence that had been put in both by the railway companies and by the opposing counsel. He outlined half a dozen particular questions that in his mind had important bearing on the case, and told counsel for both sides that these must be argued by the date, which would be fixed by him later, when the case came before the board again.

During the session Mr. Pitblado criticized the basis of rate comparisons taken by Mr. Lanigan in the C. P. R. exhibit. He said the exhibit was not a comparison between one movement and another. If these exhibits were to be any good, the actual rates people had to pay must be compared, and not the "spectral rates" Mr. Cowan had already referred to.

Chairman Drayton said that C. P. R. Exhibit No. 29 had nothing to do with actual traffic movements. He asked Mr. Pitblado's opinion as to whether the size of a point of destination affected the commodity rate thereto, but to this Mr. Pitblado was not prepared to give an answer. He stated, however, that he did not think it was possible to make a comparison between mileage rates.

Dealing with figures of population submitted by Mr. Lanigan, it was contended by Mr. Pitblado that the figures do not mean anything unless reflected on the earnings of the railways.

Population a Factor

Mr. Lanigan thought that differences in population was at least an important factor in the consideration of the question of rates. He contended that a distributing condition on the Canadian side of the line differs from those on the American side because St. Paul and Minneapolis are in a larger sense distributing points.

Mr. Pitblado asked if it was not so that the Canadian railways have the advantage of carrying the bulk of the freight from the head of the lake to Winnipeg in trainload lots, the easiest kind of freight transportation.

Mr. Lanigan replied that Mr. Pitblado was working on a wrong theory. The long haul through unproductive territory between Fort William and Winnipeg, he

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS TODAY

Minister of Militia and General Sir Ian Hamilton to Arrive by Evening Boat From Vancouver.

CAMPAIGNERS PARADE FOR INSPECTION

Review of Fifth Regiment at Macaulay Point Camp This Evening—Field Guns in Coming Manoeuvres.

Colonel Roy announced yesterday morning that he had received official intimation that the Hon. the Minister of Militia, Colonel Sam Hughes and General Sir Ian Hamilton will arive by the 6.45 boat this afternoon, and will be received with a salute of seventeen guns. In the evening they will hold an inspection of the Fifth Regiment at Macaulay Point.

The British Campaigners' Association are arranging a parade before the Minister and General Sir Ian Hamilton, which will take place immediately on their arrival in front of the Parliament Building. The beautiful flag presented to the association by the Daughters of the Empire will be carried on parade for the first time. Campaigners will wear their medals, a number of which were won by the wearers in service under Sir Ian Hamilton in South Africa and elsewhere. The Campaigners are to parade at the Douglas statue at 6:30 p. m.

Guns in Action

Besides inspecting the Fifth Regiment this evening, it is possible that the Minister and General Hamilton will be present at the competitive gun practice which is to take place on Saturday afternoon next at Macaulay Plains.

It is highly probable that the University School cadets will also be present at this evening's inspection.

For the first time in the Fifth's history, the field guns will be brought into action at the coming manoeuvres, and it will be interesting to note the effect of their introduction by the defending forces. Arrangements have been made for horses to take the guns into action, and there will probably be a good showing from this section of the Campaigners, owing to the fact that many of the artillerymen have been in active service at the South African war.

TIMBER RICHES OF THE PROVINCE

Hon. W. R. Ross Makes Trip in Motor Boat Round Centres of the Logging Industry—Makes Study of Conditions.

SUGGESTS AIDS FOR FIRE PROTECTION

Hon W. R. Ross, Minister of Lands, has just returned to the Capital after spending several arduous days in visiting the Coast logging camps of both the Island and the Mainland, becoming familiarized with the country, and getting into closer touch with the public end of the timber administration. The tour, which was made in the Leila R., one of the new 55-foot motor boats belonging to the Forestry Department of the Government, took in what is acknowledged to be the best timber area in the whole Dominion of Canada, and as a result of it numerous improvements are likely to be made in the general conditions governing forestry protection and inspection. The Minister was accompanied by Mr. H. R. McMillan, chief forester.

Work of Logging Camps

That the trip afforded the Minister of Lands an excellent opportunity of studying the actual condition of the logging camps on the Coast, and thereby enabled him to form a proper estimate of the various regards in which the administration of the forestry legislation can be so extended and amended as to better meet the requirements of the situation, is best conveyed in the words of the Minister himself. In conversation with a Colonist representative yesterday he spoke in appreciative terms of the manner in which this important industry is being carried on in the Province along the Coast line, and suggested that with the assistance of the Forestry Department conditions would yet be brought to a higher pitch of excellence.

"This trip was made," he said, "primarily to give me an opportunity of getting into touch with the men who are engaged in the timber industry in

AUSTRALIA'S NEW CAPITAL

Commission Will Inquire Into Erection of Commonwealth Buildings—Ministry Takes Office

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 25.—A Royal commission of experts is being asked to inquire into the general administration relative to the building of the capital city. The petition is the outcome of the recent objection on the part of Australian architects and engineers to 210 tons of Australian marble to be used in the new Commonwealth building.

The federal ministers yesterday assumed control of various departments. The conducting of the recent federal elections amounted to $550,000.

A large order is to be placed with English firms for a new locomotive for the New South Wales Railways.

TARIFF REVISION BILL

More Changes Have Been Adopted by Democratic Caucus After Two Days' Fight

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Free sugar in 1916 and free raw wool now are established in the tariff revision bill, having been approved today by the Democratic caucus after two days' fight. The sugar schedule as reported by the majority members of the finance committee, and practically as it passed the House, was approved by a vote of 40 to 6. Free raw wool, as submitted by the majority and passed by the House, swept the Senate caucus by a vote of 40 to 6.

MR. MEIGHEN IS OFFERED POSITION

Member for Portage la Prairie Is Said to Have Accepted Solicitor-Generalship in Borden Cabinet.

OTTAWA, June 25.—The position of Solicitor-General for Canada has, it is understood, been offered to Mr. Arthur Meighen, member for Portage la Prairie, and accepted. Mr. Meighen arrived in Ottawa this morning and was in conference with Premier Borden late this afternoon.

The Solicitor-General does not rank as a minister of the Government, but exercises important functions in connection with the administration of justice. The office carries with it the title of Honorable and a salary of $5000. The last Solicitor-General of note was Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, now Chief Justice of Canada.

Since the change of government in 1911, the position has been vacant. The acceptance of the position by Mr. Meighen will necessitate a by-election in Portage la Prairie. Mr. Meighen entered Parliament in 1908 at the general elections, and has won front rank as a debater.

AID FOR AGRICULTURE

Hon. M. Burrell Expects Soon to Reach Agreement With Provinces Regarding Expenditure

OTTAWA, June 25.—Within a couple of weeks Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, expects to reach an agreement with all of the Provinces with regard to expenditure under the Aid to Agriculture Act. This year $700,000 has been appropriated for this purpose. It is to be used almost altogether for educational work.

The proposed disbursements in Ontario and Prince Edward Island have been approved by council. Manitoba proposals are expected shortly as Hon. George Lawrence, Minister of Agriculture for the Province, was in conference with Mr. Burrell not long ago. Manitoba is to get $51,760.

British Columbia's proposals have been mailed. That Province is to get $47,334. Negotiations are in progress with Saskatchewan, which is to get $54,296, and Alberta, which is to get $46,094. Agreements with Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are being considered.

THE TITANIC DISASTER

Case Against White Star Line—Judge Says There Was Negligence in Not Reducing Speed

LONDON, June 25.—In a test case brought in the King's Bench division by Thomas Ryan, a farmer, of Cork, Ireland, against the White Star Steamship Company to recover damages for the loss of his son in the Titanic disaster, the judge handed down the following: "There was no negligence regarding the ship's lookouts, but there was negligence in not reducing speed. There is not sufficient evidence to show if the message from SS. Mesaba, reporting ice, reached a representative of the Titanic."

As the judge had left the court, judgment has not been entered.

SEVERE DEFEAT FOR BULGARIANS

Attack on Servian Position at Zletoro Ends in Disastrous Reverse—Many Dead and Wounded on Field.

BELGRADE EXCITED OVER SITUATION

Revival of Rumor That Servian Cabinet Has Resigned—Possible Effect on Arbitration Proposals.

BELGRADE, June 25.—The Bulgarians have been defeated at Zletovo.

An official report says that the Servians went into action only when heavy forces of Bulgarians began to cross the river.

After desperate fighting, the Bulgarians broke and fled, leaving behind many dead and wounded and abandoning all possessions they had secured in Servian territor.

The Bulgarian attack on the Servians has created a dangerous state of excitement here. The newspapers publish special editions declaring in large type "War has begun."

May Delay Arbitration

LONDON, June 25.—According to Servian reports a serious battle occurred today at Zletovo, near Istip, between the Servians and Bulgarians. Whether this outbreak will obstruct the projected Russian arbitration by strengthening the war party in Servia, will be seen when Premier Pachitch, with his reconstructed ministry, meets the Skuptschina in extraordinary session tomorrow.

The rumor gained currency in Belgrade today that the Pachitch Cabinet again had resigned, but this is not confirmed.

The Montenegrin Premier has arrived at Belgrade, ready to accompany M. Pachitch to St. Petersburg, where the proposed meeting of Premiers is to be held.

Australian Cricketers Win

SCHENECTADY, June 25.—The Australian cricket team won in the second day of the play with the Schenectady Cricket Club here today, by a score of 287 to 131.

New Zealand Loan

SYDNEY, N.S.W., June 25.—The New Zealand Government has raised a further loan of $875,000 in London at 4 per cent.

RAILWAYS READY TO RUSH WORK

Canadian Northern Will Construct Slips on Fraser for Ferry Service to Patricia Bay.

PROGRESS OF OPERATION ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

VANCOUVER, June 25.—"When the Canadian Northern terminals in Vancouver are completed they will have cost more than all the existing terminals of all the railways now in British Columbia combined. The improvements at False Creek will involve the expenditure of millions of dollars. This will show the magnitude of the undertaking and the ample facilities to be provided for handling traffic."

The above statement was made by Sir Richard McBride when in the city today. He came over to address the Progress Club.

"The last stage in getting the Canadian Northern terminal under way has been reached," he continued. "The Dominion Government, has, I understand, passed an order-in-council approving the False Creek plans under the provisions of the Navigable Waters Act, and the work will be started as soon as the City Council approves the sureties to be given by the company for the carrying out of the agreement. The Provincial Government is anxious that the terminals be completed in time for the establishment of communication between the East and the Pacific Coast.

Bonds Disposed Of.

"I have the authority of Mr. T. G. Holt for the statement that the $10,000,000 worth of terminal bonds, guaranteed by the Province for terminal improvements at Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Port Mann, have already been disposed of in London, and the proceeds will be available at once. Steps will be taken to extinguish the riparian rights of property owners. The Provincial Government has arranged for the lands to the city of all

BUFFALO ELEVATOR FIRE

Death Roll May Total Fifty—Number of Injured Not Expected to Recover

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—With seventeen known to be dead, eighteen missing and a score in hospitals, for whose recovery no hope is entertained, the final total of victims of the fire and explosion that wrecked the big plant of the Husted Milling and Elevator Company on Tuesday probably will exceed fifty. Nine of the sixty taken to hospitals died today.

Firemen poured tons of water on the smouldering ruins all day, and tonight it was thought it will be cooled sufficiently by morning to permit thorough search.

Two bodies are visible lying on an elevated portion, but the intense heat from the debris rendered futile all efforts to reach them today.

Excursionist Fatally Injured

VANCOUVER, June 25.—John R. Gilbert, a well-known citizen, was fatally injured today while on an excursion into the woods where he was watching logging engines. The steel cable broke, and a loose end snapped back and struck Gilbert, breaking a leg, crushing in four ribs and lacerating his head.

Murder at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 25.—Charles E. Pendell, a wealthy realty dealer and moneylender, was murdered in his office in a downtown building here today. The body, the head beaten brutally and with a pillow tied over the face, was found tonight by the widow.

SITUATION IN MONEY MARKETS

Sir E. Walker Declares That More Than Proper Share of Responsibility Is Placed on Canada.

LONDON, June 25.—"Canada is credited with a considerably larger share of responsibility of the present state of affairs in the world's money markets than is here by right. At the same time the requirements of the Dominion are a factor of considerable importance," said Sir Edmund Walker, C. V. O., president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to a Canadian Mail representative.

Regarding the situation in Canada at the present moment, Sir Edmund was of the opinion that the tightness of money was not interfering to any extent with the industries of the country, though naturally it prevented the promotion of new enterprises. It was also restricting the undertaking of new municipal works.

"Municipalities borrow," said Sir Edmund," in two distinct ways. They borrow from the banks to provide for ordinary work in order to overcome the difficulty of waiting until they have collected their taxes. This they are permitted by the municipal act to do, to the extent of 80 per cent of the tax roll. They also borrow from the banks—or have done so in the past—in anticipation of the sale of bonds, in London or elsewhere, which may have been authorized for some particular municipal undertaking—water supply, sewers, pavements, etc.

Banks Change Methods

"The latter practice grew up as a result of the ease with which Canadian municipal bonds were sold in England. It was simpler for a city to complete the particular piece of work it was authorized to undertake, and then issue its bonds, than to guess at the ultimate cost and delay starting work until it had the money in hand. And the banks were quite agreeable, in view of the fact that there was likely to be no trouble about raising the money eventually. Now that municipal bonds are not welcomed in London as they used to be, the banks decline to lend on the old terms, and for the present at least, the municipalities have to submit to a curtailment of activity."

Fire Destroys Sawmill

BANDON, ORE., June 25.—The Randolph Lumber Company's sawmill was burned to the ground here early today, entailing a loss of $75,000, almost entirely covered by insurance. The fire originated in the fire room of the engine house.

To Celebrate Dominion Day

LONDON, June 25.—The Canadian colony in Paris will hold an official Dominion Day banquet for the first time. Hon. Charles Devlin, Minister of Mines and Fisheries in the Quebec Legislature, will probably attend

John Hogg, of County Derry, Ireland, aged 30, single, passenger to Calgary.

Mrs. Jane McNealy, of Glasgow, Scotland, aged 40, passenger to Edmonton.

John Peace, of Glasgow, Scotland, aged 21, single, passenger to Edmonton.

Unidentified woman, apparently a Jewess, about 45, believed to be going to Mrs. Buting, 368 Broadway, Winnipeg.

Unidentified boy, about 8, no particulars known.

Unidentified female child, about 6 months, believed to be grandchild of unidentified woman.

OTTAWA, June 25.—Eight dead and over fifty injured, two probably fatally, is the toll of a railway accident three miles from Ottawa this afternoon, when the C.P.R. Winnipeg train left the track. All the dead and practically all the injured are immigrants, mostly from the British Isles. The cause of the wreck is not known, but it is thought to have been either a lose rail or what is known in railway parlance as a "sun kink."

The train left here at 1:30 p. m. and consisted of baggage and mail cars, three colonist, one first class, two tourists, a diner and a Pullman car. Two colonist cars turned completely over and lay on their sides in the Ottawa River, which is skirted by the C.P.R. track for some distance. It was from those two cars the dead were taken.

Dan Cameron, the conductor of the ill-fated train, was in one of the colonist cars which toppled over in the river and was in the act of punching a ticket. He escaped with a dislocated shoulder and was the only member of the crew injured.

From the stories told by passengers and by eye-witnesses who reside at the McKellar townsite, the rural subdivision just in the rear of which the accident occurred, the train was traveling at the rate of about twenty-five miles. Children and women in the cars were waving to people along the track when suddenly the people in the houses saw the cars begin to rock and the train to twist. The next instant there was a crash as the centre of the train left the rails, and then the cries of the injured and dying.

Cars Topple Into River.

The engine and baggage car, with one colonist car, remained on the track. The next two colonists toppled into the river, one turning over twice, while the second simply shot off its trucks and fell on its side. These two cars broke from the others. The first-class, which followed, remained partly on the roadbed, with its nose pointing towards the river. The tourist cars, which were next, tilted to an angle of forty-five degrees. The dining-car left the rails but remained in a straight line, while the Pullman car, which was last, had only its front trucks off the rails.

Messengers were sent to the city for help and in a short time there were many volunteers with motor ambulances, doctors and nurses. As the cars were not demolished, it was a comparatively easy matter to get out the injured and they were rushed in motor cars to the city hospitals. The C. P. R. officials in Ottawa dispatched medical men and others to the scene as soon as possible.

Passengers who were able to continue their journey were taken West tonight in a special train by way of Kemptville. Wrecking crews from Ottawa and Smiths Falls were promptly on hand and it is stated that the track will be clear for traffic early tomorrow. The train for Toronto was also sent around by way of Kemptville.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Colonist of June 26, 1863.)

Distribution of Prizes—The distribution of prizes at the Collegiate School took place yesterday. His Honor, the Mayor, occupied the chair. The addresses of the Academicians gave evidence of a high degree of proficiency in style. During the interval the boys sang "God Save the Queen" and "Annie Laurie." "My Love Lies Dreaming," which eminently deserved the encore it received. The boys were fortunate enough to hear their own voices in the latter piece, as the song was given to the Mayor by Robt. Burns, and the boys sang it to him. The meeting gave three cheers to the "Queen" and the "Mayor."

Important Enactment—A report has been published that the Governor-in-Council of Canada has prohibited the exportation of timber from the Crown lands of Vancouver Island to the United States.

Arrival—Mr. [illegible] arrived in town with Queen Charlotte Island coal, of excellent quality.

TROOPS ARRIVE AT SIDNEY CAMP TODAY

Fusiliers Leave This Morning With Headquarters Staff and Section of Signalling Corps —Mainland Corps.

Yesterday fatigue parties from the different regiments were on the ground at the Sidney camp preparing for the arrival of the main bodies today. The site chosen is an ideal one for the purpose, on open, level ground of a sandy nature, which should drain easily. On one side is an orchard, and it is backed by a screen of woods to the south. Walking from the station, the road leads past the ordnance quarters, under the charge of Hon. Capt. A. Bray, C.O.C., who was one of the first officers on the ground. Along the roadfront facing north are the officers' quarters of the 104th Fusiliers, then the headquarters staff, the 72nd Highlanders and the 6th Regiment. Behind and to the south are the men's tents in the same order, and behind the ordnance tent on the east are the Army Service Corps and the ambulance tent, each with its distinctive flag.

Colonel J. Hall, of the 88th, was on the ground early in the afternoon, and later Captain F. W. L. Moore, D.D.A. and A.M.G. to the camp, arrived accompanied by an orderly after riding the whole of the way out from barracks. Other officers of the camp staff were to arrive later.

From Mainland

The advance party of the Seaforths crossed to Victoria by the midday boat and came in on the 4:45 train. Already a number of the tents and big marquees are up, and the outlines of the camp are traced in white on the meadow land, from which a heavy crop of clover has just been cleared.

Most of the Mainland troops arrive by sea at Sidney Wharf this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the 88th will parade this morning outside the Strathcona block at 10, to be played to the station by their band and entrain for Sidney at 11, with No. 2 section of the Signaling Corps.

The 88th paraded at the Drill Hall last night and will go into camp, it is hoped, between 100 and 200 strong, under the following officers: Lieut.-Col. J. Hall, Major Weekes, Captain Villiers, acting adjutant; Captains R. Cullin, C. F. de Saw, Byng-Hall, D.S.O., Cunningham, Bruce Fowley, Moorhead, Harvey, Cooper; Lieutenants Collison, Jessop, Boggs, Macdowall Holmes, Barton, Major, Martin, Nation, and Hon. Lieutenant and Quartermaster Roberts.

The personnel of the camp staff at Sidney is as follows: Camp commandant, Colonel A. Roy, M.V.O., D.O.C., M.D. No. 11; general staff officer, Major Gardiner, D.A.A. and Q.M.G.; Captain F. W. L. Moore, D.S.A., M.D. No. 11. Attached to camp headquarters, Major A. B. Carey, R.E. (C.M.), A.D.S. and T. (C.A.S.C.); Lieut. G. C. Milson, C.P.A.S.C., A.D.M.S.; Major E. C. Hart, P.A.M.C., ordnance officer, assistant com. of ordnance, Hon. Capt. A. Bray, C.O.C.; paymaster, Major C. N. Shanley, C.A.P.C. Officers specially employed: Intelligence officer, Major T. W. G. The 104th Fusiliers

A New Westminster dispatch says: "The 104th Fusiliers, with headquarters in this city, the commanding officer of which is Lieut.-Col. J. D. Taylor, M.P., will leave for the camp at Sidney tomorrow, going to Vancouver by train and there taking the steamer along with the two Vancouver regiments. Lieut.-Col Taylor will not take command of the 104th during the camp, he having placed the command of the corps with Lieut.-Col. Boultbee of Chilliwack, the former commanding officer of Connaught's Own of Vancouver. Capt. Merrett of the Seaforth Highlanders will act as major for the 104th, Lieut.-Col. R. R. Edwards Lockie having consented to this arrangement at the request of the officers commanding the Fusiliers. Captain Smith, of New Westminster, will act as adjutant. The regiment will comprise four companies, two from Chilliwack and two made up of the Cloverdale and Westminster companies.

Sidney Stirred Up

Sidney finds this incursion of a thousand men into her borders stimulating trade to such an extent that the energies of everybody are being taxed to the utmost to cope with the demands made hourly for supplies for the camp. A certain number of visitors may be expected to drive out by motor car, and the public at large can reach the camp by the early train on the V. & S. or by walking the mile from Tripp, a station on the B. C. E. Railway.

that section of country, and also to make a study of how the laws governing the same are being observed, and how they generally affect the business. In the first place, perhaps, I should describe the country visited.

"The Coast Section refers to the East Coast of Vancouver Island from the south end to well within the Sayward District, and on the Mainland from the outskirts of Vancouver to a point opposite the district referred to on the Island. This territory, which fringes on the water on both sides, is, perhaps, the richest timber zone on the Continent. It supplies between a half and a third of the entire cut of Canada, and produces over two-thirds of the Provincial output. It is very heavily timbered with some of the best tree specimens in the whole world, and to a large extent is to be regarded as the centre of the logging industry in the Province, inasmuch as there are about two hundred logging camps ranged up and down the Mainland and Island Coasts.

Long Voyage

"In view of the extreme density of timber in this section, and the fact that the bulk of the logging operations of the Province are conducted within its limits, the administration of the Forestry Department is very deeply concerned in it; and, as I have said, it was with a view to studying the conditions of the industry on the ground in relation to the administrative provisions that the trip was taken. Together with Mr. McMillan, I motored up to Comox, and there went aboard the Leila R., one of the new forestry inspection vessels, which, by the way, was making its maiden voyage, and from that point I made a tour of the logging camps all along the coastlines of the Island and Mainland, saw how things are being done to preserve, or rather conserve, the timber asset of the Province; how the inspection work is conducted; and how the loggers are generally conforming to the Government regulations. In all, we covered several hundred miles, as the trip lasted four days, and during that time I observed more of the actual conditions of the logging industry than would be possible by any other means in as many weeks. By keeping to the water, it was possible to study the geographical situation much more effectively than could be done on land. Passing along the shore line, I was enabled to see where, by the stretching of wires across a number of creeks, along the banks of which much of the logging is done, it would be possible to establish a system of communication that would, in times of danger, prove of the very greatest value in securing assistance before fire or other damaging influences could gain too powerful a hold to render help of any kind useless.

Powell River Mills

"Of course, the Leila R. made a number of calls on her way. For instance, we stopped off at the Booth logging camp at Menzies Bay, at the B. C. Mills Timber and Trade Company's location at Rock Bay, and we also spent a very interesting and instructive time at the Powell River Paper Mills. The Powell River plant is one of the finest on this continent, and the industry that is being carried on there is one of the great permanent industries of the country. Quite a town has been built up there, and the residents enjoy every convenience of larger and more pretentious places. The mill employs about 750 men, and the population is several times that figure. At the present time, the mill is shipping 150 tons of paper per day, which means an enormous business indeed. The whole business represents a tremendous outlay of capital; $6,000,000 was spent upon the plant alone. In addition to being an excellent commercial asset in itself, the paper mill uses up the low-grade timber of the country that might otherwise be left, and in that way brings in a direct revenue to the Provincial treasury in royalties. They are the cleanest loggers we have on the Coast, for the simple reason that they can use the stuff that others might be inclined to leave. One or two other establishments of a similar nature, located on the coast line of the Island or the Mainland, would be very welcome, indeed.

Fire Protection Service

"Another reason for taking the trip was to see at first hand how the fire protection laws are being enforced and observed. I met a number of the fire rangers, and learned from them something of the nature of their work in watching over the welfare of the great timber belts of the section. The country is divided into sections, and a fire patrol has charge of each. Practically all the timber can be reached by water, and as each fire patrol is provided with a motor boat, the work of inspection is greatly facilitated, although, of course, it entails constant vigilance, and very often considerable effort. Happily, there have been no fires of any consequence recently, and now that we are in the 'green' season, there is very little chance of an outbreak unless we have a spell of excessive heat.

"One of the most pleasing features of the expedition, if such it might be called, was the knowledge that the loggers are now taking greater interest in the fire protection than heretofore. A large number of them are burning their slash, thereby lessening the danger, and I believe that from now on this improving condition will continue.

"For some little time the Forestry Department has been considering a scheme for facilitating the fire protection system by installing a series of telephone lines and constructing a number of trails across places where it is thought that better results might be obtained. I looked into this matter closely while making the trip, and it is possible that this scheme will now be forwarded, as it appears patent that the use of the telephone in certain places would be of the very greatest assistance in sending out alarms from remote timber zones.

"When I say that the Government collects the sum of $500,000 in royalties from timber every year, in addition to what is collected for licenses and other privileges, it will be realised that the Government has a considerable interest in this work. And, of course, over and above all that there is the great question of conserving the timber—that is, so arranging the cut that there will always be an equal supply. In many places timber is the only thing that the land will grow, and, consequently, it is up to us to see that it is adequately taken care of. It is a great big question, involving all kinds of difficulties, but the Government is fully alive to its importance, and the Administration of the forest branch will endeavor to carry out such efforts that are best calculated to meet the situation. By that I mean the preserving of the timber industry from any evils that might tend to injure it as a permanent asset of the Province, and as a perpetual source of revenue."

At the muster parade on Sunday morning it is highly probable that the Minister of Militia and General Hamilton will attend, when no member of the Regiment will be extended leave without very special reason.

It is not yet arranged when to hold the sports meeting, which was postponed on Saturday last. The date may have to be after the camp has broken up unless it can be fixed for one evening at the beginning of the coming week.

ILLUMINATIONS FOR THE CARNIVAL WEEK

Suggestion That Colored Lights Should Be Used on Streets and Buildings—Official Programme Decided Upon.

Illumination was the main topic of conversation in Carnival circles yesterday. The opinion was freely expressed that much could be done at very little extra expense either by the city, the Government or private individuals, to make the city proper very spectacular during the festive week through the liberal use of colored lights.

Red and green are the Carnival colors, and it is desired that strings of electric globes be used as decorative elements in addition to the regulation bunting and floral manifestations of color. It is likely that the suggestion will first be brought before the notice of the B. C. Electric Company, with the request that they take it into consideration.

Another matter that was widely discussed yesterday was the official programme of the Carnival, and it was decided that no advertisements will appear in it, but that it will be something in the nature of a souvenir. Already the cover has been designed, and it is proposed to arrange the interior so as to make it a thing of beauty, if not a joy forever. In the first instance, it was intended to dispose of the programme as a concession, but this has been abandoned in favor of the other idea, and consequently the committee desire it to be known that the official programme of the Carnival will contain no advertisements.

The first samples of the Carnival post card were on hand yesterday also. In a few days they will be distributed among the various newsagents for sale. It is expected that they will be accorded a hearty reception by the public of the city and that they will be widely used for correspondence purposes. The post cards are miniatures of the Carnival poster designed by Colonel Hobday, and, without flattery, it may be said at once that they are dainty works of art both from the point of view of conception and execution.

Festivals Association

In conection with the convention of the Festivals Association of the Pacific Coast, which meets at Tacoma on July 4, the Carnival committee has appointed a special delegation to represent Victoria as the first Canadian city to be represented at the councils of this body. The committee consists of Alderman Cuthbert, and Messrs. F. A. Pauline, Sheridan-Bickers, L. D. McLean, T. C. Johnston, G. O'Dell, and the honorary secretary. This meeting is regarded as the most important of its kind ever held on the Pacific Coast. Eighteen Coast cities will be represented, and Victoria will have the only Canadian representation. Those appointed have been instructed to make every possible effort to have the convention in Victoria next year. The principal topic to be discussed at the meeting will be the wider advertisement of the attractions of the Coast for tourists.

Arrangements are being made by the secretary for a special room for the convenience of all visiting pressmen during Carnival Week, and the Remington Typewriter Company, acting in conjunction with the committee, has kindly offered to place a number of machines at the disposal of the guests.

An adequate appropriation has now been made by the finance committee for the events connected with the fire departments and Chief Davis has been consulted in regard to the proper division of the same.

RAILWAYS READY TO RUSH WORK

patents for the central portion of the bed of the creek prior to a re-transfer to the Canadian Northern.

"I am also informed by Mr. Holt that track-laying on the Lulu Island branch will be completed by July 15. Slips will be constructed at the Fraser River ferry terminal whence a fast ferry service will be operated between Patricia Bay, near Victoria, following the inauguration of a thorough train service.

"Railway construction on Vancouver Island is also progressing rapidly. The Canadian Northern executive has assured the Government that the section of line between Victoria and Alberni will be turned over to the operating department early next year.

"Mr. D'Arcy Tate, vice-president of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, has informed me that an early start will be made on the construction of the line through West Vancouver to North Vancouver.

"The proposed bridge across the second narrows," the Premier continued, "is giving the Provincial Government no little concern. It is imperative that work on the structure should be started forthwith. Considering the congested condition of business in the various bridge works throughout the country, and the fact that an order placed now has little prospect of being executed within two years, directors of the Pacific Great Eastern have expressed to me their concern lest the arrangements on the part of the bridge company might not permit of entry of the line into Vancouver when the line to Fort George will have been finished. The Provincial and Dominion Governments have given generous aid to this important bridge project, thus materially reducing the cost to the various municipalities interested in the improvement. I have every reason to believe that an actual start at construction will soon be made."

It is announced from London that the story regarding the alleged drowning of Aviator Fairbairn on Monday night was a hoax.

TAKES EXCEPTION TO STRICTURES OF MAYOR

Alderman Cuthbert Opens the Meeting of License Commissioners by Explaining Why Recent Session Adjourned.

Because the Mayor saw fit to criticise the other members of the board for not being present at the recent quarterly meeting of the Board of License Commissioners, thus necessitating an adjournment of that meeting until yesterday, Alderman Cuthbert, prior to the commencement of the meeting yesterday, rapped His Worship over the knuckles in a verbal way, denying the right of the Mayor to make any strictures upon his colleagues on the board.

Alderman Cuthbert declared that while the meeting called last week was the regular scheduled meeting of the commissioners, it was arranged in advance that the session should be adjourned. Commissioner Popham was then out of the city, and he (Alderman Cuthbert) was also to be away on the day on which the meeting was advertised to be held. He had arranged with the Mayor that that meeting should be adjourned, but the Mayor, when appearing at the session to announce an adjournment, had seen fit to refer to the fact that it was the first regular meeting of the board in his experience which had had to be adjourned by reason of the failure of the other commissioners to put in an appearance, and laid the blame for the adjournment upon his colleagues.

Alderman's Explanation.

Yesterday, when the board had assembled, Alderman Cuthbert explained to those members of the legal profession and their clients who had appeared at the adjourned meeting that the Mayor's remarks anent the other two commissioners for failure to appear had been uncalled for. He explained that the Mayor fully understood that the meeting was to be adjourned, but evidently His Worship could not allow to pass the opportunity of putting his fellow-members on the board in the wrong.

"It was a mean despicable trick, one of those tricks, which, makes it impossible for a man to work with him," declared Alderman Cuthbert, after he had explained how it was that last week's meeting of the board came to be adjourned. Alderman Cuthbert stated that he felt those who had attended that meeting were entitled to know the true reason for the adjournment.

Mayor Morley asserted that when he adjourned the meeting last week he had not made any slurring references to his fellow-members. But nevertheless it was quite true that it was the first regular meeting in his experience that it was found necessary to adjourn because of the failure of a quorum of the board to put in an appearance.

"I prefer to believe the statements of some members of the legal profession who were present at that time," retorted Alderman Cuthbert, and the session was proceeded with.

Business Transacted.

Firemen Have Narrow Escape

NEW YORK, June 26.—Seven firemen were blown from a third storey fire escape of a burning loft building at Leonard and Church Streets. Four of the men grasped rungs of the iron ladder in falling, but the others were blown fifteen feet to a large wall sign. Surrounded by flames and with high pressure streams directed around them, the three went hand over hand to the second floor of the fire escape, now nearly red hot, and were rescued. All seven suffered severe burns on their faces, arms and hands. The estimated property loss was $300,000.

DATES OF SUMMER FAIRS

Where British Columbia Exhibit Will Be Seen Throughout Canada This Year—Edmonton Omitted

The following is a list of the Summer and Autumn fairs throughout the Dominion at which the Province of British Columbia will be represented by an exhibit such as has in past years won the admiration and special interest of the dwellers on the prairies. Edmonton has been omitted this year, owing to the utter inadequacy of the only space which the authorities there offered to this Province. Complaints were made last year of cheapjack shows and booths in the vicinity, and this year it has been judged better to pass the Albertain capital by. The fairs are: Winnipeg, July 8-16; Brandon (Dominion Fair), July 15-25; Regina, July 28 to August 2; Toronto, August 13 to September 6; London, September 5-13; Ottawa (dates will be announced later); United States Land Show at Chicago, November 20 to December 8. Mr. W. P. Brandrith, the provincial exhibition commissioner, is already on his way to Winnipeg, and the natural wealth of British Columbia will be placed before the eyes of the Easterners in more varied and attractive guise than ever before.

ROGERS' PASS TUNNEL

Work will shortly be begun on the Rogers' Pass tunnel, which is to be five miles long and will be through the Selkirk Range; a tunnel that will have two tracks. We have been so accustomed to great things that we hardly give more than a passing thought to a work that will cost something like $6,000,000, and is being undertaken by the Canadian Pacific simply in the ordinary routine of "the day's work." It is not very long since Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, speaking to a Colonist representative, said of the great company of which he is the head: "We thought more about expending $100,000 when I took charge than we do of spending $1,000,000 now." He was telling of the wonderful progress of the country and of the efforts which his company is making to keep pace with it. To the Canadian Pacific of fifteen years ago $100,000 was a formidable sum of money, for the country had not then had time to prove itself sufficiently to warrant any outlays on transportation that could possibly be avoided. It is only just to say of Sir Thomas that the new Canada, the Canada whose development and potentialities warrant the piercing of mountain ranges almost without regard to cost, is in no small measure due to his splendid courage and optimism. Among the Makers of the Dominion none deserves a higher place on the roll of honor than the great chief of the world's greatest transportation system.

When we think of the inception of this new work, memory goes back to the days when Edward Blake described British Columbia as "a sea of mountains," and questioned the wisdom of a transcontinental railway, at least at that stage in the history of the country, and we are led to wonder what he would have thought—of what, indeed, any one would have thought—if some one should have said in reply that, by the time less than three decades had passed from the day those words were spoken, the Canadian Pacific would be preparing to plunge through this sea, as a submarine plunges through the waves.

Sometimes we are asked by timid souls if we have not already witnessed the culmination of Canadian development. To such persons the new projects of our pioneer transcontinental road ought to be an all-sufficient assurance of a great future progress. Let them remember that less than thirty years ago we were told that a railway from ocean to ocean could not by any possibility pay; that it would be a millstone around the neck of Canadians for all future generations. Let them remember that the Grand Trunk Pacific will be a transcontinental road next year, and the Canadian Northern not much, if any, later. Let them remember that the Canadian Pacific has two lines through the mountains. Having done this, let them reflect upon the fact that tens of millions are to be spent by this company upon its original line in piercing the mountains and in double-tracking, and then perhaps they will see how ill-founded are their imaginings that Canada's clock of progress has already struck 12. No, no! It is not yet "Past 3 o'clock, and all's well!"

THE BAGHDAD RAILWAY

It is announced that an agreement has been reached between Great Britain and Germany in regard to the Baghdad Railway. Sir Edward Grey stated in Parliament that the arrangement is that the railway is not to be extended any further than Basra without the consent of the British Government, that there shall be two British directors on the railway board, and that the suzerainty of Turkey over Koweit shall be recognized, but the government of the country shall remain autonomous and all agreements entered into by its Sultan with Great Britain shall not be questioned. As this is looked upon as a settlement of more than usual importance in connection with the relations between Great Britain and Germany, some particulars regarding the railway and the position of British power in the part of Asia, which surrounds the head of the Persian Gulf, may be of interest. We shall endeavor to present the facts without the aid of a map.

Primarily the objects of the Baghdad Railway is to provide a line to the Persian Gulf, which can be connected with the European system of railways at Constantinople, presumably by means of a car ferry across the Hellespont. The distance between Constantinople and the shore of the Persian Gulf by the route to be followed by the railways is between 1600 and 2000 miles. Basra, or Bussorah, which is to be the terminus of the German road, is a city of 30,000 population, surrounded by a rural population of over 200,000. It is on the Shat-el Arab, which is the name of the river formed by the junction of the Euphrates and the Tigris. It is seventy miles from the Gulf and cannot be reached by vessels of more than 500 tons. The route of the railway is interesting. From Constantinople it will run in a southeasterly direction to Adana, which is a city of 45,000 people, situated near the northeastern extremity of the Aegean Sea, with which the road will doubtless be connected. Thence it will proceed in a general easterly direction, crossing the Euphrates not far south of the Taurus Mountains, in which that river has its source, and will traverse Mesopotamia to Mosul, a city on the western bank of the Tigris. It will follow the west shore of that river to Baghdad, which will be reached at approximately 1200 miles from Constantinople. This city lies on both sides of the Tigris, and although it has been shorn of its ancient glory, it is yet a place of much importance and has fully 200,000 inhabitants. From Baghdad the railway will recross Mesopotamia, reaching the Euphrates in the vicinity of the ruins of Babylon, where it will cross the river and extend southeasterly to Basra. Of this railway the first 400 miles from Constantinople have been already completed.

The Koweit sultanate, which is under British protection, although it is to be under the nominal suzerainty of the Sultan of Turkey, is that part of Arabia, which forms the northwestern shore of the Persian Gulf. The town of the same name has the advantage of being upon the only harbor on the coast for a long distance. On some of the maps the town is called Grane. There is no port nearer the mouth of the Shat-el Arab, the water being too shoal for ships to approach the shore except as has been above mentioned in the case of vessels ascending the river to Basra. The British have a projected line of railway from Koweit to Basra. The occupation of this port and the possession of the right to construct this railway, give Great Britain strategic control of the head of the Persian Gulf, and this cannot be interfered with by the Baghdad Railway. From a point not far below Basra a British-Peruvian railway is projected extending well into the centre of Iran. From Koweit to Kuratchee, the western terminus of the Indian Railway system, the distance by sea is 1100 miles.

These facts seem to indicate that in the diplomatic battle which Sir Edward Grey has been waging for the past seven years with Germany over the Baghdad Railway, he has come off victor. Germany will provide a very much needed artery of traffic, but it will not infringe upon British control of the Persian Gulf, which has been regarded as essential to the safety of India. The status that has been created seems a very excellent one. Germany has received all she has ever admitted she desired, namely an opportunity to develop Syria and Asia Minor commercially, and the interests of Great Britain have been fully safeguarded. By the agreement what was a very serious cause of friction between the two countries has been removed.

A CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS

We take the following from The Ottawa Journal, a paper said to be as near a personal organ of Mr. Borden as any newspaper can be said to be:

A conference of the Premiers of all the Provinces of the Dominion, which, owing to the strenuous politics of the past three years, has been postponed from time to time, is likely to be held in Ottawa in September.

A number of the provinces are particularly anxious to have certain outstanding claims which are of considerable import dealt with.

The Maritime Provinces have been seeking a conference for the past two years. The reciprocity campaign prevented such a meeting in 1911, while provincial elections and the consideration which Premier Borden and the Government were giving the naval question stood in the way of anything being done in this direction before the opening of the late session last Autumn.

The undoubted intention of the Government to bring down a redistribution bill this coming session has started anew the movement, as the Maritime Provinces are particularly anxious to discuss provincial representation.

Under the redistribution proposal the Maritime Provinces stand to lose several seats in the House of Commons. This, they claim, while in accordance with the terms of the British North America Act, is contrary to what were the real intentions of the framers of the constitution.

Among the many matters of national import to be considered are the following: Provincial subsidies, provincial control of natural resources, jurisdiction of provinces over inland fisheries, respective rights of Federal and Provincial Governments in the incorporation of companies, Federal aid to highways and agriculture.

There is a probability that the conference will deal in a general way with Senate representation, and it is possible that Premier Borden may take advantage of such an opportunity of sounding provincial opinion in regard to a scheme of Senate reform.

Whatever foundation there may be for such a report, no official action has been taken looking to such a conference. When the first intimation of the proposal came over the wires, Sir Richard McBride informed The Colonist that he had not heard about it, which shows that nothing definite has been decided upon. The various subjects mentioned in the quotation from The Journal are of sufficient importance to warrant such a conference.

"BRITISH COLUMBIA TODAY"

The manner in which Sir Richard McBride from time to time reviews Provincial progress is of great educative value. It is thus possible for the public to keep abreast of development, far as the Government is instrumental in bringing it about. Sir Richard's speech at Vancouver yesterday was more than usually interesting in view of the announcements he made. He promises new municipal legislation, doubtless along the lines of the recommendations of the Commission which recently investigated municipal affairs in the Province. The Government, he also says, is sympathetic in the town-planning movement. Whether that sympathy will be given practical effect is not as yet known, but there are doubtless some ways in which assistance could be given to municipalities if they saw fit to put their desires in concrete form. Of course whatever was done in this matter would have to be Provincial wide in its application, and for this reason it would be necessary for the Government to exercise caution before committing itself to any definite policy.

On the whole Sir Richard's address was optimistic in the extreme. He announces that the money for the Canadian Northern Pacific terminals in the Province has been obtained in the London market. This is a matter of considerable interest to Victoria as it will mean a hastening of work on the union passenger depot and other terminal facilities on the former Songhees Reserve. The progress of the Pacific Great Eastern and the developments of the B. C. Electric Railway were also matters that came under his purview. It is easy to gather from what he says that there will be no halt of any consequence in the prosperity of the Province, and that here, perhaps less than anywhere else, the effect of the world-wide money stringency is not being felt in a way that can cause any real material disadvantages.

THE PRICE WE PAY

About six years ago a British Columbia salmon weighing from five to seven pounds could be bought in the local market for twenty-five cents. Today, if you wish to purchase the local product, you will find that you have to pay fifteen, twenty, or twenty-five cents a pound for it. In other words, the price of salmon has increased four or five fold, and in some instances more. We have not heard that the supply of this food commodity is dwindling, nor do we think that the supply is in any way below the demand. Either of these eventualities would reasonably account for an increase in price, but neither exist. Let it be understood that we are dealing with fresh salmon, where the element of labor does not enter in so largely as if we were speaking of the cured variety. But it is only to an increased cost of labor that we can ascribe the increased cost to the consumer of the fish. When we say "only," we mean logically, for in dealing with the widespread advances in the price of all foodstuffs during the past few years, we find that there are many more "causes" for these than we could ever dream of in an attempt at philosophic or economic reasoning on the subject.

There is, of course, a close prandial relationship between fish and meat, and in this may be found the reason why the prices of both advance as it were in unison. The Trade evidently considers that it would not do to make fish of one and flesh of the other, and so both are treated sympathetically. The subject is a very fascinating one. We will have opportunities of recurring to it very often in the future—especially owing to the studied efforts to prepare the public mind for still further advances in the prices of these food commodities.

OUR FOREST WEALTH

During the present Summer a commencement is to be made in the compilation of data which when completed will provide, as nearly as possible, an inventory of the forest wealth of British Columbia. The work is to be carried out systematically. Both the Forestry Department of the Provincial Government and the Canadian Commission on Conservation will co-operate and share the cost of the task, from which very valuable results are expected. It will mean, in the first place, that before very long an accurate estimate will be made of the amount of merchantable timber in the Province. Statistics will be available of the amount of land good for agricultural purposes when it has been cleared of its standing timber. Other land, not coming within this category, will doubtless be available for reforestation, a policy that, we hope, will be taken up in earnest in British Columbia, so that our timber wealth may be made inexhaustible. There are very many other useful purposes that the proposed inventory of our timber resources will accomplish. When we know what the total of the standing timber is, it will be possible to estimate the percentage of depletion, year by year, either through commercial operations or by fire. The survey of practically unknown portions of the Province—particularly in the Chilcoten, Cassiar and Peace River districts—by practical foresters will lead to the patrol of the new timber areas located, and thus a reduction in the loss from fires.

To Mr. W. R. Ross, the Minister of Lands, is due the credit for having effected an arrangement with the Conservation Commission for the compilation of these figures. The Forestry Branch of his department has already a mass of information in its possession, but much still remains to be done before anything like an accurate estimate of British Columbia's greatest resource can be obtained. When the figures are published, we hope they will be accompanied by an exhaustive report on the various districts, dealing particularly with the commercial uses of the different woods, and, that in addition, a comprehensive map will be prepared showing exactly where the forest areas are located, their extent, and how they may be most easily reached by trail, road or railway.

A TRAGIC HAPPENING

The wreck of the immigrant train near Ottawa is an occurrence of a very tragic nature. It is easy to imagine the feeling of high hope those aboard must have entertained on their entry into the land in which they hoped to make their future homes. The reaction when this feeling was translated into one of gloom by the hand of death must have been very great indeed. Eight lives seem to have been blotted out instantly while the injured number in the neighborhood of fifty, nearly all immigrants. Sorrow will be felt throughout the land at the happening, and the sympathy of all Canadians will be extended to the relatives of those who met their death on the eve of commencing a new life in a new land.

A subscriber tells us that Aotea-roa, the Maori name for H. M. S. New Zealand, means "the long white cloud." It is the native name of New Zealand itself. Tradition has it that when the Maoris arrived there from Hawaii that they found the land shrouded in a mist, hence the name Aotea-roa.

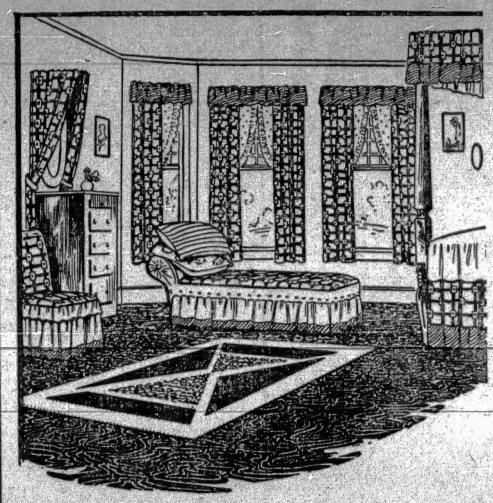

As everyone knows, we are not particularly enamored of militant suffragism, but we should feel like giving a vote to the heroine of the following story. She had just concluded a speech on "Votes for Women," and said she was ready to answer questions, whereupon a callow youth arose and asked: "How would you like to be a man?" Quick as a flash came the reply: "How would you?"

The evening paper thinks that Sir Richard McBride's statement that last year 8,500 persons applied for pre-emptions in British Columbia disproves The Colonist's statement that "the alleged ill-used settler, who would pre-empt land if he could, is largely a myth." To our way of thinking, what Sir Richard said establishes what we said. If speculators are keeping would-be settlers from pre-empting land, how did it come about that 8,500 people were able to file pre-emptions last year?

It is premature to criticize the rates charged on the Saanich interurban line. We think Mr. Goward's position is that it is better to begin with a maximum charge and reduce or vary it as experience shall show to be desirable, than to attempt off-hand to settle upon a permanent charge for transportation. We are inclined to the opinion that it will be found necessary to change or add to the present train schedule. In fairness, however, to Mr. Goward, we think he ought to be given a little time to get the situation fully in hand before he is subjected to criticism.

The death of the Rev. Joseph McLeod, of New Brunswick, was announced in yesterday's Colonist. Mr. McLeod was distinguished in his day as one of the foremost temperance advocates in Canada. As a speaker on his favorite subject he had few equals. He was a writer of ability, and in The Religious Intelligencer, the organ of the Free Baptist Church, he dealt with every subject of public interest with vigor and often with a scathing pen. He was son of Ezekiel McLeod, the founder of what was once called the New Light Baptist denomination. Mr. Joseph McLeod's religious activities did not prevent him from taking a very active part in politics. He was a strong Conservative. He was a member of the Dominion Royal Commission on Prohibition, and the minority report which he submitted to Parliament is one of the most comprehensive and ablest documents ever prepared on that subject.

CAMPBELL BLOCK CASE IN PROGRESS

Mr. H. A. Maclean, K. C., Opens Defence on Mr. D. E. Campbell's Behalf Yesterday Afternoon.

Just before the adjournment of Judge Lampman's court yesterday afternoon the plaintiff's case, in the action being brought by a number of sub-contractors on the Campbell Block in the effort to prove Mr. D. E. Campbell liable for material and work supplied and done by them, was closed. Mr. H. A. McLean, K. C., acting for the defendant, called his first witness, Mr. C. A. Glocker, manager of the Thos. Hooper firm of architects, and started his examination which will be continued this afternoon.

Mr. Arthur Newham, secretary of the Westholme Lumber Co., was again placed on the stand yesterday morning in behalf of the plaintiff company, which, in this specific instance, is the Dickey Manufacturing Co., of Seattle. His evidence consisted of a recital of the method adopted in making requisitions and compiling pay rolls. He was closely cross-questioned by Mr. McLean and, in this examination, admitted that he was not right in suggesting that Mr. E. A. Conner, for twelve months superintendent of construction on the block, was paid by Mr. Campbell.

With respect to the relations between the Westholme Lumber Co. and Mr. Campbell, it was stated by Mr. Conner, when sworn, that he had been told that the company was acting as the agent for the owner. Later, however, Mr. Glocker informed him that this was not so. In a conversation with Mr. Campbell the latter had said there was nothing in it. Witness identified an affidavit made on March 22 as his own, in which he declared that "but for the constant interference of Sol Cameron with the work by unnecessary stoppage of work and delivery of materials I was unable to carry on the work as quickly as I could have done but for his unwarranted interference." In the same document he swore that Messrs. Cameron and Newham endeavored to induce him to endorse accounts which he believed to be false.

When asked by Mr. McLean what material he referred to in the last statement he said that it was a quantity of faced brick supplied by Evans, Coleman & Evans, and also as to the pay roll list. These bricks had not gone into the building, but were returned. Some form lumber also was charged against the work which was not delivered because of lack of storage space. As to the pay rolls, he said that some names of men were included in January last who were not engaged on the building. He told Mr. Glocker that, if it could be shown that these men were employed on the block, it would be O. K. He declared that it was because of his refusal to give the pay roll his verification, as it stood, that he was dismissed.

Mr. Conner expressed the opinion, as a man of experience, that the structure could have been completed for $106,000, as provided by the original contract.

Case for Defence.

Messrs. Colbert, Dickey, and others gave testimony in the early afternoon, and immediately after the plaintiff's case was closed, Mr. McLean placed Mr. Glocker on the stand for Mr. Campbell. He said that he had no authority to guarantee payments in Mr. Campbell's behalf. It would have been out of place for him to have suggested to sub-contractors that they would get their money in any other way than in accordance with the terms of the Westholme Lumber Company's contract. He had never attempted to pledge Mr. Campbell's credit. Payments were made on the ordinary architects' certificates to the contracting company.

Questioned as to the number of these certificates, he said they were numbered from one to ninety-one, and that they represented a total of approximately $124,000. They were issued to the Westholme Lumber Company, the only exception being those drawn after that concern was removed from the work in April, 1913. Up to the time that Mr. Campbell took over the building there had been certificates issued to the value of $122,083.29. The difference between this figure and the contract price, $106,000, indicated the amount allowed in extras from time to time. Mr. Campbell's completing account was $2,463.52.

Witness said that he had never interfered with the men on the work personally. He never went further than the power given the architects by the terms of the contract. A man named Stein had been removed because he was "careless, neglectful and impudent." He pointed out that, under the agreement between the Westholme Lumber Company and Mr. Campbell, the latter, after making full and fair allowance for loss of time through bad weather, etc., has a claim against the contractors for about $4,600 for demurrage.

The case was adjourned to this afternoon.

PROVES MOST SUCCESSFUL

First Congregational Church Ladies Ably Conduct Strawberry Festival and Sale of Work

The strawberry festival and Summer sale of work held yesterday afternoon and evening in the parlors of the First Congregational Church proved a great success, being quite a red-letter event in the history of the congregation.

The opening ceremony, which was held at 3:15, was of a somewhat more elaborate nature than is usual at these gatherings. The pastor, Rev. Hermon Carson, presided, on a flower-decked platform, assisted by the president, Mrs. Kinney, and Mrs. W. F. Currie. The well-known hymn "O Lord of Heaven and Earth and Sea," was sung, after which the pastor offered prayer. A charming rendering of "The Gift" was then given by Mrs. William Grant, who was also heard later in a lullaby song.

Mrs. (Dr.) Currie, who, with her husband, formerly labored in the African mission field, exploring places unvisited by David Livingstone, briefly addressed the ladies, her presence being much appreciated. She was afterwards presented, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, with a beautiful basket of iris, carnations and roses, tied with pale green and white ribbon, the colors of the organization, which were handed her by two little children, Miss Flimming and Master Clarence Brown, son of Mr. T. H. Brown, contractor for the new church, and Mrs. Brown.

The sale having been formally opened, those present visited the different stalls, where they found much to tempt them. The plain work stall was in charge of Mrs. Scowcroft and Mrs. Boorman; the fancy work stall, Mrs. William Grant, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. G. Wood; the flower stall, Mrs. Wiseman, Mrs. Roberts and Miss Howell; home-made candy, Miss Scowcroft and Mrs. Davidson; home-made goods, Mrs. Pargiter, Mrs. Compton and Miss Boorman. The strawberry and cream stall, where berries of exceptional size and flavor were sold in abundance, was presided over by Miss Wiseman and Mrs. Addison, who also did a lively trade in ice-cream. The afternoon tea was in charge of Mrs. Vikelius, Mrs. Metcalfe and Mrs. A. J. Carson.

There was a large attendance in the evening, when a splendid musical programme was given, among those taking part being Mr. and Miss Davis, Mrs. Flocton, the Misses Palmer, Mrs. Woods and Messrs. Davis and Henderson. A short sketch, "School Girls," was also presented. A hat trimming contest for gentlemen and a nail-driving contest for ladies caused great merriment, and proved a very successful way of passing the time.

The testimonials and certificates were then presented by His Lordship Bishop MacDonald, who performed the task with his usual kindliness. CREW'S STRUGGLE FOR LIFE

Sailors of Wrecked Vessel Forced to Spend Eleven Hours in Open Boat

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., June 25.—Eleven hours in an open boat, without food and insufficiently clad, was the experience of Capt. Walter Dallis and his crew, Frank Black, Benjamin Cox and Joseph Spencer, of North Sydney, after they left their schooner Francois Robert, 20 miles off East Point just as she was about to sink. They landed at Basin Head almost exhausted. The schooner belonged to St. Johns, Nfld, and was 75 tons burden.

Austrian Officer's Suicide.

VIENNA, June 25.—A second suicide in connection with the Austrian war department occurred here. Lieutenant Liebel, who had been employed at the war office for thirty-five years, after a conference with the head of his department, returned to his office and shot himself through the heart. On May 16 a tremendous sensation was caused by the suicide of the Chief of the General Staff of the Eighth Army Corps, Colonel Alfred Redl. He was stationed at Prague, but was in Vienna on personal business. It was later disclosed that Colonel Redl had been betraying Austrian military secrets to the Russian Government. No cause has as yet been assigned for the suicide of Lieut. Liebel.

Japan's New War Minister

TOKIO, June 25.—The Emperor today signed the appointment of Lieut.-General Sachihiko Kusunoz as Minister of War to replace Lieut-General Kikoshi. General Kikoshi was in the Katsura cabinet and was retained in the ministry by Premier Yamajoto. Lieut.-General Kusunoz is chief of the military technique examining department. The impression prevails that the withdrawal of General Kikoshi is connected with the administration reforms whereby, as a concession to the Liberals, the Ministers of War and Navy could be selected from the reserves. General Kusunoz is on the reserve list.

The fire loss in the United States, in proportion to the number of inhabitants, is nearly ten times as great as it is in countries like France and Austria.

Is Suing the City—Mrs. Mary Mason is suing the city and the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company for injuries alleged to have been occasioned to her through paving operations recently underway by the company for the city. A writ in the action has been served on the city.

To Judge at Calgary—Dr. S. F. Tolmie and Mr. George Sangster leave at the end of the week to be present at the Calgary show, which opens next Monday. Dr. Tolmie will judge light horses, carriage, coach, hackneys and standard breeds, and Mr. Sangster will judge dairy cattle.

Winners of Shield—The Lieutenant-Governor's Challenge Shield, offered in competition to the most efficient troop of Boy Scouts in British Columbia, has been won by the Fairview Troop, Vancouver. The shield is displayed by the courtesy of Messrs. Hibben, in their window on Government Street.

Trail Poultrykeepers—Mr. J. S. Terry, who, with Mr. Upton, has just returned from a long visit to the Mainland in connection with the Farmers' Institute Spring meetings, reports that the poultrymen of Trail have averaged 50 cents a dozen for their eggs the year round, and this in the face of American competition.

Forestry Convention—The fifteenth Canadian Forestry Convention will be held in Winnipeg from July 7 to 9. Among the speakers will be Mr. H. R. MacMillan, chief forester of British Columbia. Last year's convention was held in Victoria. It is expected a number of delegates will go from this Province.

Move to New Hall—The First Baptist Church congregation, who have been holding their meetings in the temporary building at the corner of Yates and Quadra Streets, will remove into the commodious Dominion Theatre for their Sunday services. Next Sunday's services will be held there by the Rev. A. Wanicker.

Sees Improvement—Mr. F. Smith, a successful farmer, of Brandon vicinity, and his wife are the guests of Mr. C. F. Wood, 1734 Pembroke Street. Mr. Smith is surprised at the immense development in the business section of the city. He expresses his admiration of the improvements throughout the city since his last visit, some four years ago.

Result of Drawing—The twenty-fifth appropriation drawing of the Victoria (No. 2) Building Society was held last evening by a committee composed of Messrs. David Miller, D. L. McLaurin and James Robinson. The first drawing resulted in Mr. W. G. Winterburn securing 139 A. In the second drawing Mr. F. Hittigen secured 142 A and D, and W. P. Marchant 142 B and C.

Dr. Bapty's Views—At the session of the Canadian Medical Association at London, Ont., on Tuesday, Dr. Bapty, of Victoria, formerly of London, expressed the opinion that work was going on at the wrong end in Canada. Children were shut up at the very time they needed the vigor-giving sunlight and air. What was needed, he thought, was out-of-door workshops, leaving the regular school curriculum to be picked up later.

Esquimalt School—The closing exercises of the Esquimalt School will be held tomorrow morning. At 10 o'clock the teachers and scholars will assemble in the drill hall on the school grounds. Additional interest is lent to the closing exercises this year by the large number of prizes to be presented by the School Board. Besides these, Mr. Leonard Tait, chairman of the board, will present five special prizes donated by himself.

Saanich Garbage—The Council of South Saanich have adopted a report from their health and morals committee whiche will mean the instalment of a garbage system in the districts adjoining the city. Cans are to be provided and sold to the householders and a monthly charge made for collection. The rubbish will be carted down to the city wharf and the municipality will pay 15 cents a load to the city to dispose of it finally by towing out to sea.

Fire Brigade Pictures—Moving pictures of the local fire department in action were taken yesterday, and the films will be shown here shortly. They will also be sent throughout Canada and to the Old Country. The views included the reception of the alarm at headquarters station and the turnout of the apparatus, and also the apparatus in full action coming south along Douglas Street accompanied by the police patrol and mounted police, the whole giving an excellent idea of the city's fire protective service.

Pioneer Railway Man—Friends of Mr. J. J. Cameron have learned of his sudden death from heart failure in Kamloops on Thursday, June 12. Mr. Cameron was 51 years of age, and had been engaged in railway construction in British Columbia for the past thirty years. He was born in Cornwall, Ont., and came out West at the age of 21. He secured a position with the C. P. R., and has been connected with railroads ever since. At the time of his death he was in charge of work for the Northern Construction Company, on the C. N. R. lines at Kamloops.

Had No Permit—Neglecting to secure a permit before proceeding with the installation of electric light wiring in a house at the corner of Superior and Oswego Streets was a charge heard against Mr. Charles Campbell in the police court yesterday morning. The circumstances were explained by Mr. James A. Daly, city inspector of wiring. They were admitted by the defendant, who stated that the reason for his neglect was oversight resulting from press of work on him. A $5 fine was imposed.

Land Registry Act—The joint meeting of the Law Society, the Land Surveyors' Association and the Real Estate Exchange, organized to discuss the merits of the Land Registry Act, will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The meeting arises out of the series of complaints that have been made in connection with the registering of subdivision plans, and it is hoped that as a result of the discussion some definite course of action will be decided upon so that the Government can be asked to take the matter up.

Progress in the North—Mr. W. E. Duperow, general agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific passenger department, has returned, after a trip of inspection through the lines of the company in the northern part of the Province. Mr. Duperow went up the railway from Prince Rupert to Hazelton. He states that large parties are going into the country, and that as the numbers of those on the outbound trip are comparatively small, the only inference is that the arrivals are settling in the different valleys whose agricultural possibilities have been made available by the new line of railway. The Grand Trunk is organizing a bureau to furnish information regarding opportunities for farming along the G. T. P. line.

Women and Carnival—A meeting of the provisional committee of the local Council of Women, recently appointed in connection with the Carnival, was held yesterday afternoon at the King's Daughters' rest room, when the resignation of Mrs. Hasell from the post of convener was accepted with regret and Mrs. L. T. Davies appointed in her place. Mrs. Hasell will, however, continue to help with the arrangements. Interesting reports were given by the different ladies as what they had been able to accomplish, and it was stated by Mrs. McPhillips that Mr. A. T. Goward had consented to have advertisements placed on twenty of the cars. The chair was taken by Mrs. R. S. Day.

Owners Meet Committee—A meeting between the special Council committee composed of Alderman Meston, chairman of the services committee; City Engineer Rust and City Solicitor Robertson, and owners on Fairfield Road, was held yesterday afternoon. The owners are protesting against the suggestion that the proposed widening work on a portion of the thoroughfare be dropped after the plan setting forth the proposed street as it will exist after the widening is completed has been registered. The owners claim the city must proceed with the work, and have threatened legal action if this is not done. The city seeks to drop the work on the ground of expense, alleging that some of the claims for compensation are too high.

Will Arbitrate Claim—Arbitration proceedings to determine the amount which the city must pay to Mr. D. Finklestein, owner of property fronting on Douglas Street, near King's Road, will be commenced this morning. The city expropriated thirty-two feet from off the front of the property for street widening purposes. The owner claimed $6,000, while the city refused to pay that figure. The claim is increased by reason of the disturbance to the existing building occupied by Mr. Finklestein in his business. Mr. Hugh Kennedy has been selected by the city ar arbitrator; Mr. J. J. Shallcross by the owner, and Mr. R. S. Day is third arbitrator. Messrs. Bodwell & Lawson are solicitors for Mr. Finklestein. City Solicitor Robertson represents the city.

That Storm—The rain-storm at Vancouver on Tuesday afternoon was a record-breaker. The News-Advertiser said in its issue of yesterday: "Mr. A. G. Dalzell, assistant city engineer, stated: 'For fifty minutes the rain continued, the total precipitation being one inch. During that period, however, for five minutes the rain fell at the rate of three inches an hour, and for ten minutes it fell at the rate of two and one-quarter inches per hour, while for thirty minutes the downpour was at the rate of one and three-quarter inches per hour. The intensity of the short periods during which the precipitation was the greatest was particularly noticeable, and has never before been experienced in the city.' Mr. Dalzell stated that in looking up the Seattle meteorological records since 1896, the year local records were first kept, he finds that the total precipitation yesterday easily created a record in comparison with Puget Sound."

VICTORIA EVIDENCE IN ENGLISH TRIAL

Attempt of Julian B. Hall to End His Own Life May Be Means of Saving Woman From Serving Sentence.

The attempt of Julian B. Hall to take his own life in the early hours of July 22, 1909, in his room at Esquimalt, may be the basis upon which a motion for a new trial of a young widow, Mrs. Jeannie Baxter, will be made in London, England. Recently the woman was sentenced to a term of three years in prison for the manslaughter of Hall in the latter's flat in the West End of London.

The accounts of the trial as published in the London papers were read by some of the man's former acquaintances here, and as the evidence at the woman's trial was conflicting in that there was a grave possibility that Hall had killed himself, the facts of the man's attempt at Esquimalt at self-destruction has been communicated to the woman's lawyers. No mention of the Esquimalt deed was made at the London trial, and doubtless nothing was known of it. Had it been known it is probable that the jury would have rendered another verdict.

Julian B. Hall, who was known to many Victorians, was rooming at Esquimalt in July, 1909. For some days prior to his attept on his life he had been drinking heavily. On the morning of July 22, he attempted to kill himself by a shot in his head. His attempt failed. Police Inspector Walker and Dr. Robertson were notified of the shooting, made haste to the residence at which Hall was rooming and had him removed to the hospital, where the bullet was extracted. In a few days Hall was about again, and shortly afterwards left for England.

After his arrival in England Hall interested himself in aviation, and early this year obtained an aviator's certificate from the Royal Aero Club. He resided in a flat on Denman Street, in the west end of London, and for nearly a year prior to April 15 last had been living on intimate terms with Mrs. Baxter, who had supplanted in his affection a woman named Ada Knight. The Baxter woman had urged Hall to marry her, and he had even gone so far as to make out his will in her favor and had promised to marry her, although subsequently he refused to do so.

The Woman's Story.

The woman's story in her own defence was to the effect that on April 15 she called at Hall's flat and again renewed her request that he marry her. He refused, maintaining that it would be useless, as they could never live together. During the visit the two quarrelled, and Hall, who had been drinking heavily for some days, flourished a revolver, a habit he had, and spoke of killing himself and ending it all. He was standing with the revolver pointed towards himself while he boasted of his contempt of death, and as the woman, she testified attempted to wrest the weapon from his hand it went off twice. Hall was dead when the police responded to the alarm raised by the woman.

In addressing the jury, the presiding judge stated that the circumstances as brought out in evidence were so obscure and unusual that he could not advise the jury to return a verdict of murder, and that he would accept one of manslaughter. The jury was out only fifty-five minutes when it returned a verdict of manslaughter with a strong recommendation for mercy, and the woman was sentenced to three years' penal servitude.

The whole circumstances of the case were such that, it is certain, had the jury had before it evidence of Hall's attempt at Esquimalt four years ago it would have been been strong substantiation of the story as told by Mrs. Baxter to the effect that Hall's death was really due to his own act. The woman has a small child, and much sympathy was shown her while she was on trial.

SEWERS BY-LAW CARRIED

Ratepayers of Esquimalt Municipality Authorize Expenditure of $400,000 by Big Majority

Authority has been given the Esquimalt Council to raise $400,000 on the credit of the municipality for the installation of a sewerage system within the confines of the township. The bylaw providing for this enterprise was placed before the ratepayers yesterday and was endorsed by such a pronounced majority that there can be no question as to the strength of the sentiment in its favor. While the vote was not a heavy one, it was decisive. There were 217 cast, of which 197 were for and 16 against the proposition. The remaining four were declared spoiled by Returning Officer A. B. Ellis.

Reeve Saunders and his associates have announced their intention to proceed with the undertaking at as early a date as possible. The first step is to obtain the funds, which will be secured, as is usual and in accordance with the terms of the by-law, by the rentals imposed by the "Sewer Rental By-Law" and the "Sewer Construction Tax By-Law," which already have been passed by the Council. Although it is known that municipal debentures have not been disposed of as readily of late as in the past, it is felt that little difficulty will be experienced in this instance, and that the neighboring municipality will boast at an early date of a thorough and modern system of sewerage.

Meet Outlaws Tonight

The Beacon Hill baseball team will meet the Outlaws at Beacon Hill this evening, the game commencing at 6:30.

Venture Takes North Run

Taking the place of the Camosun, the Venture left port yesterday with a big cargo for Bella Coola.

NEWS OF THE CITY

No Sitting Yesterday—The court of appeal did not sit yesterday, but will resume today. It is understood that some judgments will be handed down, but there is no certain knowledge of the intentions of their lordships in this respect.

Change in Tram Routes—Changes in the Esquimalt and Gorge services of the B. C. Electric Company were made yesterday, whereby the cars inbound from those termini will hereafter run along Bay Street to Douglas Street, and thence along the latter thoroughfare to Yates Street, turning down this street to Government and back again along Government Street. The change has been made possible by the installation at the corner of Bay and Government of the "diamond," which permits of the cars being sent through to Douglas Street. Hillside Avenue cars are now coming down Douglas Street to Yates Street and around via Yates to Government and back again. These changes will permit of the doing away of the stopping of the cars on Government Street opposite the Empress Theatre, and hereafter the stops will be made only on coming to crossings.

WEDDINGS MANY AS JUNE GOES OUT

Three Interesting Ceremonies Performed Yesterday—Popular Young People Unite Their Lives and Fortunes.

At the residence of the bride's mother, 849 Princess Avenue, yesterday, Miss Edna Emmeline Blake, youngest daughter of Mrs. A. J. Blake, was married to Mr. Ernest J. Down, son of Mrs. and the late Mr. A. H. Down, of Plymouth, England. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas Keyworth in the presence of a number of immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The drawing-room was prettily decorated for the occasion.

The bride was costumed in a white serge gown, trimmed with cloth of gold, and wore a picture hat. She entered the room, supported on the arm of her brother, Mr. W. A. Blake. Miss Marion Penketh, the bridesmaid, was gowned in blue silk. Mrs. G. Langtry Bell, of Vancouver, rendered appropriate music. The groom, who is well known locally, being secretary-treasurer of the firm of Gore & Macgregor, was supported by Mr. Frank Merrick, of Vancouver.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the party adjourned to the dining-room, where luncheon was served.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful pearl pendant necklace, to the bridegroom a pearl ring, and to the best man, a silver match box. The popularity of the bridal couple was evidenced from the numerous and handsome presents which were received, among which were a silver coffee service from the Corona Athletic Club, of which the groom is president; a handsome silver cutlery service from Mr. and Mrs. J. Herrick Macgregor, and a beautiful painting from the groom's relatives in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Down left by the afternoon boat for a tour of the Sound cities, and on their return will reside on South Hampshire Road, Oak Bay.

Weddings in Cathedral

Two weddings took place in St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday morning. The first was at 7 o'clock, when Miss Magdalena Elizabeth Christie was united to Bert Adolph Kropp by Father MacDonald, who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass which followed. Miss Rose Morrison, of Vancouver, was the bridesmaid, and Mr. Jerome Christie, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. W. Christie, looked charming in a white crepe de chine dress with silk Turkish trimmings, the overskirt being fashioned in the new draped effect. She wore a large picture hat, trimmed with two large ostrich feathers and pink rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Kropp received beautiful presents and many good wishes from their numerous friends. They went on a honeymoon trip to San Francisco and other Coast cities. They will return in about two weeks, and will make their home in Victoria.

At 8 o'clock Miss Louise Lipsky, a popular stenographer, was united in marriage to Mr. Colin Francis MacKinnon by Father Leterne, who was the celebrant of the Nuptial Mass. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Annie Lipsky, and Mr. Joseph F. MacKinnon was best man. The bride wore a white cloth suit, with a picture hat to match.

A wedding breakfast at the Empress Hotel followed the ceremony, and later the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip, which will include the Sound cities.

Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon, on returning, will reside in their new home at Victoria West.

MARSHALL STARTLES LOCAL CHESS PLAYERS

Mr. Frank Marshall, the United States champion chess player, gave an exhibition of wonderful skill at the Camosun Club yesterday. The champion played nine men in the afternoon and seventeen in the evening, playing the boards simultaneously, and lost but two games.

Commenting on the class of Victoria chess players Mr. Marshall stated that he had never met better players since he left Montreal.

On his arrival in Victoria yesterday, Mr. Marshall was taken for a drive about the city and was afterwards entertained at the Camosun Club by the members of the Chess Club and the Camosun Club.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Marshall met nine local men. He defeated eight and drew with one, his successful opponent being Mr. Gibson, who should have won. Mr. Gibson allowed himself to be drawn into a perpetual check, and thus received a draw instead of a win.

In the evening Mr. Marshall won from all his opponents with the exception of Mr. J. T. Meyers, who won his game, and Messrs. Benson, Marchant and Parsons, who managed to obtain a draw. The champion's opponents were: Messrs. Lombard, Marchant, Meyers, Dodd, Pelly, Fredriekson, Cheater, Vincent, Read, Parsons, Gonnason, Gibson, T. Brown, Benson, Jenette, Curtis, Gibson.

NO MONEY FOR BUILDINGS

Finance Committee of City Council Will Not Aid Made-in-Victoria Display

That the finance committee of the City Council does not feel that it can recommend an appropriation sufficient to provide for the construction of the necessary buildings for a Made-in-Victoria exhibit on the B. C. Agricultural Association grounds is the effect of a communication received by the Board of Trade early yesterday morning.

Feeling taht it would be a pity to allow the successful efforts that have been made by the board's manufacturers' committee, in securing the co-operation of Victorians engaged in industries here in this move, to go for nought, the secretary got in touch with a number of the organization's members without delay and explained the purport of the communication from the City Hall. There was an informal discussion, with the result that a prominent citizen, identified with the Board of Trade, agreed to furnish $4,000 worth of lumber and $1000 in cash to allow the structures to be begun immediately, providing the corporation can see its way clear to secure him with its note.

This proposal will be submited to the City Council at an early date. If it is agreeable to the mayor and aldermen, it is felt that there will be no difficulty in obtaining what other money is needed to provide structures that will be a credit to the Victoria exhibition and that will be large enough to house the contemplated new display advantageously.

TO PRESERVE STRAWBERRIES WHOLE—To every pound of fruit, allow 1¼ lbs. of sugar, one pint of red currant juice. Choose strawberries not too ripe, lay in a dish and sprinkle over them half the quantity of sugar, finely powdered; shake the dish, that the sugar may be equally distributed to touch the under side of the fruit, and allow it to remain one day. Then have the current juice ready, boil it with the remainder of the sugar till it forms a thick syrup, and in this simmer the strawberries and sugar until the whole is sufficiently jellied; great care must be taken not to stir the fruit roughly; simmer the berries in the syrup for 15 to 20 minutes.

Self-Dependence

Weary of myself and sick of asking
What I am, and what I ought to be,
At this vessel's prow I stand, which bears me
Forward, forward, o'er the starlit sea.

And a look of passionate desire
O'er the sea and to the stars I send:
"Ye who from my childhood up have calmed me,
Calm me, ah, compose me to the end!

"Ah, once more," I cried, "ye stars, ye waters,
On my heart your mighty charm renew:
Still, still let me, as I gaze upon you,
Feel my soul becoming vast like you!"

From the intense, clear, star-sown vault of heaven,
Over the sea's unquiet way,
In the rustling night air, came the answer—
"Would'st thou be as these are? Live as they.

"Unaffrighted by the silence round them,
Undistracted by the sights they see,
These demand not that the things without them
Yield them love, amusement, sympathy.

"And with joy the stars perform their shining,
And the sea its long moon-silvered roll;
For self-poised they live, nor pine with noting
All the fever of some differing soul.

"Bounded by themselves and unregardful
In what state God's other works may be,
In their own tasks all their powers pouring,
These attain the mighty life you see."

O, air-born voice! long since severely clear,
A cry like thine in mine own heart I hear—

"Resolve to be thyself, and know that he Who finds himself loses his misery!"
—Matthew Arnold.

Lady Minto Hospitals

In the very concise yet comprehensive report of Miss Mary Ard McKenzie, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, there is a map showing the situation of the Lady Minto Cottage Hospitals. In our own Province there are six of these—three in Kootenay, one at Chase and two in Cariboo.

Miss McKenzie speaks very highly of the work being done by the hospital in Quesnel. These hospitals receive grants from a general fund, and last year the sum of $36,710 was sent to nineteen hospitals built in small towns or villages in newly settled districts of Canada. These sums are supplemented by collections made in some cases by the nurse herself, in others by members of local societies.

The illustration shows Miss Ada Teetgen, who, Miss McKenzie tells us, has done yeoman service in raising funds at Islay, in Eastern Alberta, for the hospital. From another source, The Empire Magazine, the illustration is taken. It shows an English nurse, who has not only adapted herself to conditions in a little prairie town, but has worked with might and main to improve them.

There is room on Vancouver Island for an extension of this work of the Victorian Order. There are hospitals in many places. The West Coast Mission, the King's Daughters and the Government have built hospitals, but there are still settlements where sick people must be sent for many miles to a city hospital or remain at home to suffer from long illnesses.

These little hospitals are centres, not only to which sick people come, but from which nurses go to lonely homes to bring relief and comfort. A woman need not wish a more useful career than that of nurse in one of these cottage hospitals. It affords scope for self-denial and resourcefulness such as are possessed only by the best type of woman.

Pioneer life is robbed of the worst of its terrors when mothers feel certain of sympathetic, efficient aid when they, or those dear to them, are suffering from dangerous illness.

A School of Delinquents

What is the difference between delinquent children and others? The visitor to the little tent school on the grounds of the Children's Aid Home, which is under the care of a young girl, wonders, as the boys read or work arithmetic or write, whether or not there is any difference in the majority of cases.

Among the nineteen little lads there were two or three who were of a lower type, but it would have taken a keen eye to tell that the others were inferior to the children who occupy seats in ordinary schoolrooms.

In age they ranged from 9 to 14. They were quiet and polite, and seemed under no severe restraint. Yet, innocent and bright as they looked, all but one of the urchins had committed offences that brought them under police surveillance. As a rule, they were persistent truants, and more than one had formed the habit of remaining out for many nights at a time. Of course, such vagrancy implies dishonesty, for children will not go hungry.

Whose fault is it that children, naturally bright and intelligent, should neglect their duty and stand in danger of becoming criminals? In most cases, if not in all, the fathers and mothers, who should have been the children's best friends, have been to blame for their delinquency.

Foolish, weak mothers try to protect their children from just and suitable punishment; fathers leave to overburdened mothers the sole care and oversight of their sons at an age when they need a stronger hand to control them. Sometimes dissension in the home is the cause of the trouble; again, one of the parents has deserted.

These, or similar causes, have cast upon society the burden of the support of children. The Children's Aid Society is doing its best with limited means to supply the care and training, yes, and the love, of which these little boys have been robbed. For in all such cases the children have been sinned against. The bad habits they have formed are the result of their parents' sins and shortcomings.

Mr. and Mrs. Spofford try to make the institution under their charge take the place of the home the children ought to have had. Their charges are kindly and justly treated. They are allowed as much freedom as is consistent with discipline. They are taught to work, and they are given comfortable shelter, wholesome food, and, if necessary, neat clothing. They have a teacher, who endeavors to give them the same instruction as they would have received had they remained at home. But this is very far from being all. The matron studies each child and is his friend and counsellor; Mr. Spofford is supervisor and companion, as well as director. The society recognizes that its charges would be happier and better in good homes, and, whenever this is feasible, older children are sent to work, and younger ones, whose parents have abandoned them, are given for adoption. In church and Sunday school, as well as at home, religious instruction is given. Parents are not relieved of their responsibility, for all who have it in their power are required to pay a sum sufficient for the maintenance of their children. When, in the opinion of the committee, the child has reformed and the home conditions become more favorable, he is allowed to go back. Otherwise, he remains where he is till he is fitted for apprenticeship to a trade.

If Victoria mothers would try to consider what a difficult task it must be to bring up a score and more of children, to train and teach them, every convenience and every apparatus would be provided.

It is well that these boys should be required to keep their rooms in order, to assist with the housework, to help in the laundry and to work in the garden. But these tasks ought to be given for the sake of the boys, and not to save the price of help.

The school should be especially adapted to their needs, and it has been found in such institutions that some forms of manual work help to vary the routine of lessons from books. While it is very satisfactory to know that there are no girl delinquents now in the home, provision must be made for these. The Epworth League of the little Belmont Church has set an excellent example by providing the children with swings and tilts. This will form the nucleus of a playground apparatus, to which, it is hoped, other generous friends will add.

The institution is overcrowded and the staff overworked. Any woman who thinks will wonder how two women find it possible, with only the help of the children, to cook and wash, clean and mend for this big family, while each child receives sympathy and consideration. Mr. Spofford, too, must find his duties too numerous to perform to his own satisfaction, unwearied as his efforts are. And yet these people are not only doing their utmost to fit the boys for a useful future, but they are preventing them from injuring the children with whom they would associate were they allowed to remain delinquents.

A new building is needed, with ample room for work and exercise, instruction and play. Every appliance and every convenience for dealing with wayward children who are not bad enough to be committed to the Provincial Industrial School should be provided.

At the rate at which our city is growing, the number of delinquents must increase, and if, by any means, such children can be prevented from becoming criminals, the cost cannot be too great. If good people give themselves to the service of the children, the least the citizens and the Province can do is to provide for the support of an institution suitable for the purpose of giving the boys and girls the chance they have missed through the misfortune or the fault of their own parents.

POLOISTS MEET IN FINAL GAME

Duncan Team Visits Victoria July 5—Visitors Reported to Have Acquired New Ponies, Which Should Add to Speed.

On Saturday, July 5, the final polo match of the first series between Duncan and Victoria for the Island championship will be played at the Willows. The series now stands one win apiece. Both clubs are busily engaged in preparation for the final tussle.

It is announced that the Duncan club recently acquired some new ponies, which are said to be admirably adapted to the purpose for which they are destined, and these the up-Islanders are putting through a thorough course of training for the forthcoming contest. The new ponies may prove to be a big factor in the result of the July 5 game, for it will be remembered that when the Duncan players first met the Victorians they were sadly handicapped by the slowness of their mounts. Otherwise their game was superior to that of the home team.

Combining the possibility of a much greater speed in the Duncan quartette with the fact that the local club at present lacks the services of Captain Clarke, who was recently injured, and of Alex. McKenzie, who was married the other day and is now on his honeymoon, the prospect for the Victorians does not look any too bright, but, in counteraction of these temporary losses, it may be said that the remaining players have been practising steadily and are more proficient now than they were.

Latest reports concerning Captain Clarke are to the effect that his leg, which was broken two weeks back, is mending rapidly, and he will be out and around very shortly now.

It is hoped and expected that the public will attend the next game in greater numbers than on the last occasion, when the attendance was not great enough to pay expenses. The Victoria club has arranged with the B. C. Electric for a special car service to the grounds. The game will start sharply at 2:30, and Mr. Miles will referee.

The teams are:

Victoria—Saufine Irving, No. 1; A. D. Metcalfe, No. 2; A. H. Gunn, No. 3; Dr. Richards, No. 4.

Duncan—A. Kennington, A. Gore-Langton, Messrs. Knight, Wyneaton or Boothby.

SCHWENGERS PLAYER OF GREAT POTENTIALITY

The Field, an English sport paper, credits Bernie Schwengers, the Victoria tennis player and Canadian champion, with being a player of great potentiality. Describing Mr. Schwengers' recent game with Mr. Dixon, the English crack, The Field says:

"Enjoying a full meed of sunshine to the end, Chiswick Park's only disturbing factor on Saturday was a strong cross wind, well-nigh fatal to delicate driving down the lines. The meeting was wound up at dusk very efficiently, the committee rallying to Mr. Scrivener's aid for the organization of the final matches. Two Davis Cup players were opposed in the final of the singles: Mr. Dixon and Mr. B. P. Schwengers, of British Columbia. The latter could not quite win one of the three sets contested, but he came as near that distinction as the fortunes of a close match allowed him, and he certainly gave Mr. Dixon far more trouble than Mr. Mavrogordato did at Surbiton the previous week. Entirely new to his opponent's methods, which are not governed by an orthodox formation, Mr. Schwengers was slow in developing his attack, and he lost the first set somewhat easily from three. But in the second his deeply-pitched spinning service began to operate in his favor, while his volleying—clean-hit strokes of the American school — reached a high level of excellence. Forcing Mr. Dixon to yield the offensive position, he reached 4-2, and, serving well, won the first two points in the seventh game. At 40—30 the Canadian swung clear of a ball which he obviously thought was going out down his forehand line, but the wind swerved it round just on to the chalk—a lucky stroke for Dixon, who celebrated his escape by winning the next four games. Temporarily upset by this contretemps, Schwengers did not quite recover himself until the middle of the third set. From then he made a very courageous and oft-times brilliant attack, reaching 5-3 as the result of sharp cross volleys, finely conceived, and some backhand stop volleys that drew, and deserved, warm applause. His further progress was checked by a few critical blunders and some admirable passing shots on the holder's part; but enough of the Canadian had been seen to realize the potentiality of a really great player. All he needs now is what he has never previously enjoyed—steady practice against men of his own and a superior class."

LOCAL LACROSSE PLAYER WILL DO

"Boss" Johnson Pleases Critics in Vancouver by His Able Goaltending—Praise From Lalonde and Carter.

"Boss" Johnson, former Victoria amateur lacrosse goal-tender, turned out to practice at Vancouver on Tuesday afternoon, and his work impressed the critics very favorably. The unanimous opinion of the experts was that Johnson would do. He stopped shots from all angles, and after the practice, "Newsy" Lalonde and "Nick" Carter admitted it was harder to score on Johnson than on "Bun" Clarke, who is supposed to be just about the hardest goaltender to beat in the Dominion. Johnson will play for Vancouver here on Saturday.

The Vancouver management has practically decided on a defence, composed of Johnson, goal; Griffith, point; Ione, cover point; Pickering, first defence; Pringle, second defence; Godfrey, third defence, and West in centre for Saturday's game. It is the home end of the team that is worrying Jones, and just how that will line up is questionable.

The Victoria Lacrosse Club held a workout at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday evening in preparation for Saturday's game at Vancouver with the V. A. C. champions. Manager Sam Lorimer still has hopes of giving the champions a run for the trophy, although he admits that the chances are pretty slim.

The Lathers will meet the Oak Bays in a Vancouver Island League lacrosse match at the North Ward Park this evening, starting at 6:45. J. Dakers and J. Petticrew will referee. The Lathers' team: Goal, Metridge; point, Baines; cover, Sherwood; first defence, Wilson; second defence, Moore; third defence, McKay; centre, Brown; third home, Steele; second home, Ross; first home, Stevens; outside, Coffey; inside, Jenkins; spares, Smith, Barlow and Wall.

MONTAMARA RACES AT TACOMA JULY 5 AND 6

TACOMA, Wash., June 25.—Official practice on the Mountainview course, preparatory to the Montamara races on July 5 and 6, will begin at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. It was hoped to begin the practice work this morning, but owing to continued rains, the race authorities decided to give the course three more days to harden down.

Nearly one hundred touring cars belonging to members of the local automobile club went to the course by appointment tonight and made six laps each. This working of the course by volunteers was done in order to wear the sand surface into the oil asphalt filler. Three huge steam rollers will be rolled over the course night and day until Saturday morning when practice begins.

Harry Endicott and Hughie Hughes are due from Indianapolis tomorrow noon and Burman and Oldfield will arrive tomorrow night. By tomorrow night the entire galaxy of stars who will drive in the Montamara field, will have arrived.

On Friday, the weather permitting, Tetzlaff, Dave Lewis, Burman, Hughes, Cooper and Endicott will drive to Olympia to pay their respects to Governor Lister.

Sunday afternoon the same drivers will try their cars out on the Canyon Road, going as far as the National Park Inn, at Longmire Springs, on the side of the mountain.

Owing to the fact that part of the Mountainview course is also part of the Pacific Highway, necessitating the closing of that highway to regular travel during the races, and detouring when the course is in use, race practice will begin each morning at 5 o'clock and continue until 8 o'clock.

Lou Nordyke Resigns

It's back to the farm for Lou Nordyke. The erstwhile Bee, who has been prominent in Coast baseball for the last twelve years, and who was recently appointed an umpire in the Northwestern League, has resigned. He will leave immediately for his Wenatchee ranch. Nordyke's career as a ballplayer, terminated when, two weeks ago, he drew his release from the Victoria club. A week ago President Jones appointed him umpire. Shackleford, a former Northwestern umpire, succeeds Nordyke temporarily. Nordyke started and finished his career in the Northwest. He first started with the Tacoma Tigers years ago, and then went East to the Majors. A. R. Dickson bought him from St. Paul and brought him back here in 1903. Lou has been on the Coast ever since.

AUSTRALIANS MEET ALL-CANADIAN TEAM

WINNIPEG, June 25.—Australia vs. All-Canada—this will be the cry in Winnipeg, in the cricket world, early next September, and this visit of the Kangaroos is easily the most important cricket event of the season. But it should also prove to be the outstanding event to those who have the interest of good "sport" at heart.

The Australians will return home via Victoria, sailing from the Coast city early in October. They are scheduled to play at Victoria on October 1, but it is altogether likely that the game will be transferred to Vancouver, and a match played against an all-Coast team.

The three test matches of the Australian cricketers will be played at Philadelphia on July 4, 5 and 7, August 1 and 2, and at Toronto on August 21, 22 and 23, when the Kangaroos will meet a combined team representing Canada and the United States. The match with All-Canada will take place at Winnipeg in the first week in September.

Caridia and Lowe are regarded as likely semi-finalists.

ENORMOUS COST OF POLO GAMES FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Preparing Meadowbrook	100,000

Running expenses	200,000
Traveling expenses, English team	50,000
Scouting service	80,000
Entertainment fund	75,000
Interest on money	55,000
Total	$1,400,000

Twelve thousad dollars a minute spent to win what? A silver cup standing some thirty inches high and worth perhaps $500, and to get it or to keep it over $1,000,000 has been lavished by a comparatively small body of Americans and Englishmen. Criminal extravagance? Let us see. It is not the cup itself but what it stands for that calls for this tremendous expenditure.

Englishmen of wealth gladly put up more than half a million to finance this second but vain attempt to win back the cup taken from them in 1909 by four American players, Harry Payne Whitney, Larry Waterbury and his younger brother, Monty; and Devereaux Milburn.

That contest cost $60,000, the contest of 1911, when the Englishmen came to this country and failed, cost something over $150,000, this contest which was finished last Saturday, a scant two years later will exceed $1,000,000. (Verily the cost of living is going up.) While the officers of the American Polo Association decry this tremendous cost they cannot and do not deny it. It has, they say, several perfectly logical causes, the greatest undoubtedly being in the increase in the cost of the ponies.

While there are one or two ponies in use today that were used in the last tournament, the rest of the hundred have been purchased during the last fifteen months, and purchased only with this tournament in mind. Therefore, the price of these diminutive horses was boosted at once by dealers and owners, and boosted very high. Ponies that could have been bought for $500 three years ago have cost this year $5,000 and $6,000.

Last week, eight of the greatest polo players in the world, with a string of ponies back of them numbering 130, and valued at $50,000, competed for the silver cup and the championship title. Now that the dust is cleared from that battleground there is very little to show for the money spent. A few battered balls, some broken bones and mallets and winded horses. Some of the most costly horses, and those left in good condition depreciated in value the instant the tournament was over. They have fulfilled their purpose, and ponies which cost $5,000 and $6,000 may be bought for less than that many hundreds.

AMUSEMENTS

The ever-popular comic opera, "The Belle of New York," will be the opening bill of The Pollards Opera Company at the Victoria Theatre for one week commencing tonight. It is unnecessary to say anything about this musical favorite, with the catchy songs and familiar music, which directed the attention of three continents to the talents of Edna May, who, as the Salvation Army lassie, won immediate fame. In the character of Cabod Bronson, Teddie McNamara made his initial bow to American audiences ten years ago, and his return in the same role will be gladly welcomed.

Dominion Day Picnic—The annual picnic of the First Congregational Church and Sunday School Union will be held on July 1 near Dr. Currie's ranch at Beaver Lake. Tickets may be obtained at the church.

LATEST CUNARDER IS GIANT VESSEL

Launching of Aquitania Keeps Pioneer Atlantic Line Well to Front in Big Steamship Competition.

More than 900 feet in length over all, and the greatest and costliest passenger vessel ever designed, the launching of the Aquitania the other day calls attention to the fact that the Cunard Line has been a pioneer in the evolution of ocean traffic, and that it is determined to maintain its position of leadship. The fact that Samuel Cunard, the founder of the firm, was a Nova Scotian, gives Canadians an unusual interest in the history of the company. It was in 1838 that Cunard and his associates obtained a Government subsidy for a fleet of four ships to carry the mails to and from England and the United States, but it was ten years later before the first ship was in commission. The first fleet was composed of the Britannia, the Acadia, the Caledonia and the Columbia, and a Parliamentary committee reported that they were doing their work efficiently, says The Toronto Mail and Empire.

The Early Canadian Boats

As a result of this report a new contract was made between the British Government and the Cunard Company, whereby the company agreed to run its boats alternately to New York direct, and to Halifax and Boston. The subsidy was increased, and the company at once built four new ships. It met very strong competition, however, from the Collins Line, which was backed by the United States Government, and which launched four slightly larger boats than the Cunarders, and cut rates. The Collins Line became very popular, but the Cunard people, instead of retreating before this formidable opposition, went further ahead and built the Africa, the Arabia, the Asia and the Persia, which soon silenced the opposition of the Collins Line, and within ten years the competition of the Cunarders and internal mismanagement drove the Collins company out of business. For a time thereafter the Cunarders had little opposition, and the fleet waxed in strength and popularity.

The building of the Persia, as The Springfield Republican observes, marked a new era in the construction of the company's ships. Thereafter the designers built their ships of iron instead of wood, but they still retained the old paddle wheel. The Scotia, launched in 1862, was the last of the Cunarders to have the paddle wheel. She was a very fast vessel for those days, having a speed of 16 knots. The year 1867 brings us to the third milestone in Cunard history—the long-deferred abandonment of the paddle wheel in favor of the screw. The first two screw-propelled steamers owned by the company were the China and the Russia, both of which were very fast and economical. They were succeeded by the Algeria and the Abyssinia, vessel of smaller size, and by the Batavia and the Parthia, which were the first Cunard ships to be fitted with the newly-invented compound engines. Simultaneously the Government contract which had been so substantially increased in 1848 was canceled, and a further contract entered upon with a much reduced subsidy. In 1876, however, a new system of postal remuneration was adopted by the Government, by which the mail was paid for according to its weight and bulk, and this system has been in vogue ever since. The company renewed the contract under the new terms and have held it ever since, making an unbroken connection with the Government postal authorities of seventy-three years.

Meeting Competition

Meantime, the White Star and Inman lines had been developing powerful fleets. They had been "raising the bid" of the Cunard Company, and in 1879 had the best boats in the Atlantic service. The older company, however, continued its policy of "going one better," and in the Bothnia, Sycilia and Gallia placed upon the water the finest boats of the day. Then followed the Servia, which reduced the time of passage to less than seven days, and was acknowledged to be the queen of the waves. The Aurania, the Umbria and the Etruria strengthened the position of the Cunard Line, and for twelve years this fleet was unapproached, the time of passage being reduced to a fraction more than six days. It was not until 1888 that competition again threatened the supremacy of the Cunarders. In that year the City of New York and the City of Paris wrested from them the ocean record, and it was not regained until 1892, when the Lucania made her record run. In 1894 the company had to meet a rate war, and in the struggle that ensued all the competing companies lost money. In 1897, however, with the Lusitania and the Carmania, the Cunarders again took a leading position, and steamers with triple screws and turbine engines entered the Atalntic passenger trade.

In 1911 the company purchased the Thomson Line of passenger steamers, from London and Liverpool and Southampton to Canada, and thus re-entered the Canadian trade. The Thomson steamers were renamed, and were made one-class cabin steamers, an innovation that has proved very popular, for the best accommodation on the ships is given at second-class rates. Last Summer three new steamers were on the stocks, the most important of them being the Aquitania, which has just been launched. Some idea of the development in the Atalntic transport business is gathered from the fact that the Aquitania is almost double the size of the Servia, which was the undisputed mistress of the waves twenty years or so ago.

Mr. W. Chesterfield Brown, of Cornwall, Eng., is registered at the James Bay Hotel, as are also Mrs. J. D. Leitz and Miss Leitz, of Powell River; Mr. H. A. Braidwood, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. K. B. Kelly, of Seattle.

GERMAN AIRMAN'S FEAT

Wins Horse Race, Flies in Biplane to Berlin, and Wins Another Race

BERLIN, June 25.—Lieutenant Von-Egan Kruger, a military airman, one of the crack gentlemen riders in the Kaiser's army, executed a brilliantly spectacular feat, when he won the first race at Magdeburg at 2 o'clock astride the steeplechaser Jaspis. He then mounted an army biplane and flew to Berlin, where he landed one and a half hours later at th e Gruenwald race course in the nick of time to jump from his flying machine into the saddle on his own horse, The Dragoon, with which he won handsomely the fifth event on the card, the Potsdam prize gold cup worth $625.

The lieutenant, whose victory at Madgeburg, and flight to Gruenwald the crowd only learned of when the race was over, was carried the full length of the paddock on the shoulders of his enthusiastic admirers.

TERRITORIAL FORCE SHOWS RAPID GROWTH

Number of Recruits Largest in Four Years—Colonel Seely Replies to Proposal to Introduce Compulsory System.

BARNSTAPLE, June 25.—Speaking here, Colonel Seely, secretary for war, said that in spite of very violent attacks by certain newspapers, the recruiting for the territorial force had been buoyant. In fact it had been the best recruiting year they had had for four years. There were some who when they objected to a thing, whether it were the insurance act or the territorial force, were always making the mistake of the man who kept pulling up the plant to see how it was getting on. They did not intend to allow the insurance act or the territorial force to be uprooted.

The territorial force, like the insurance act, was a new thing, and it took new things a long time to grow in England; but when they grew they grew very strongly. The territorial force on July 1, 1908, numbered 183,000 officers and men; today it numbered 242,000 officers and men. It was quite true that such an abnormal number of men were due to leave the ranks during the present year that they must expect a considerable shortage, but he had little doubt that the shortage would be made good.

Voluntary System

They had heard a good deal lately of a proposal to abandon their old voluntary system for military affairs. They had not yet heard it proposed for naval affairs that they should adopt the compulsory system which prevailed on the continent and in some of the Dominions. They could not apply the compulsory system, he was persuaded, to the navy, nor to the air service. Then would it not be very unwise to apply it or attempt to apply it to one portion of their defensive forces while they left the other under the voluntary system?

If they wanted universal service, let it be in such things as the payment of taxes and national insurance, and in national physical training continued beyond the school age at the expense of the state. It would be an error to suppose that the physique of a nation could be improved by turning all the people into soldiers. Let them stand by the voluntary system for their fighting force and devote themselves in the universal direction to the improvement of the physique of their imperial race.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENTS

Lecturer Describes How Fish Hide From Their Foes—Take on Unexpected Appearances

Dr. Francis Ward, at the Royal Institution, London, described the experiments he has been carrying on in Port Erin to find out how fish and other aquatic animals hide themselves from their many foes. All the older observations on the subject have been made by naturalists who looked down into the water from above and thus got quite a different view of things from that of the animal living in the water. Dr. Ward has devised means for seeing the creatures of the aquatic world exactly as they see one another. He has constructed a number of ponds with underground observation caves in their sides, where the observer can sit and watch the living things in the pond through a glass window. No light comes into the caves excepting through the water, so fish, insect, and sea weed all appear in their true colors, while the inside of the caves remains dark and invisible to the fish.

It is usual to consider the color of the animals as the most powerful means of concealment, but the lecturer considered this a mistake. It might be true in the case of a few organisms which spend the whole of their lives in the same surroundings, but, he said, "in the forms that are constantly changing their environments the best concealed are those that most effectively reflect the object around them."

He proved this by an ingenious experiment. He pinned a sheet of white cardboard on a red stick so that he could dip it into a pond. The pond was lit from above and the audience saw it from the darkened theatre through a side window. The bottom and sides of the pond except for the glass window were lined with green confervae. When the white cardboard and the bright scarlet stick were dipped in the water nothing could be seen but a dull black line. The cardboard simply reflected its surroundings and thus appeared exactly as green as the background of confervae, thus becoming practically invisible, while the red stick with its reflected green looked nearly black. This explains why a brilliant little object like a silvery fish does not appear silvery at all when viewed by his enemies in the water, but red, brown, or green, according to the general color around it. Moreover, it will reflect on its bright body stem for stem the reeds into which it rushes in order to hide itself, and thus becomes well nigh invisible.

Dr. Ward, by a set of illustrations, showed how all the colored objects took on a new and often unexpected appearance when seen from beneath the water, how brightly colored perch or trout or crab or anemone could use their reflecting power for purposes of concealment. He showed how the sea bird floating on the water was far less visible from below than one would expect, and how even the black water spider under a leaf appears quite green, and therefore invisible, because of the reflecting power of tiny air bubbles it carries down into the water with it.

STOCKHOLM, June 25.—The French aviator, Marcel G. Brindejonc des Moulinais, who recently made the flight from Paris to St. Petersburg, arrived in the Swedish capital this afternoon. He crossed the Baltic from Reval in four hours, including the time spent in making a descent on the Swedish coast in order to ascertain its whereabouts.

INCOME TAX NOW PROPOSED IN FRANCE

Government's Plan for Meeting Cost of Increased Armament Will Be Opposed by Both Senators and Deputies.

PARIS, June 26.—The sudden decision of the Government to bring in an income tax bill as a Government measure has caused no little surprise.

It will be remembered that to provide for the cost of the immediate and future increase in the armaments the Government decided to issue a loan amounting to nearly 1,200,000,000 francs, and the immediate difficulty was to decide from what source the additional revenue wherewith to provide for the annual interest on the loan could be obtained. Various provisions for increased taxation had been set forth in the bill authorising the loan, but all these have now been unceremoniously abandoned.

The new bill which is to be submitted to the Chamber concurrently with that authorizing the new loan, established the principle of a national income tax. The proposed tax is to be a progressive one, and will apply to all incomes derived from whatever source, exceeding 10,000 francs per annum. The bill is drawn on the principle that an income of 30,000 francs will provide 100 francs of tax, and on this basis it is calculated that the total incomes subject to this form of taxation would produce between 70,000,000 francs and 80,000,000 francs per annum, which would be sufficient to pay the interest on the new loan.

Has Caused Outcry

There is already a great outcry against this particular form of taxation, and the Government proposal, which is not regarded by the authorities on French national finance with any favor, is more than likely to meet with great opposition and probably with some surprises for the Government. The more general opinion is that this step is a false move on the part of the Government, although it may be a seemingly easy manner of meeting the budget deficit; it is nevertheless considered a questionable method having regard to the French fiscal system.

Moreover, it is regarded as unquestionably weak, for it throws upon the Government the undesirable responsibility of trying to carry through a new system with regard to which there already exists in both chambers powerful and determined opposition.

LIVES ARE LOST IN TRAIN WRECK

Absence of Panic.

There was remarkably little panic among the passengers. The Russians took things stolidly, while the British immigrants showed their breed, those who escaped or who were only slightly injured helping the less fortunate to extricate themselves. Those who were injured bore up most pluckily after the first alarming cries and their grit was commented upon by passengers and others.

There were many pathetic scenes as women and children going to join their husbands and fathers or whole families going to the West were removed injured. Some members of families were killed while others, who were injured, were hurried to the hospitals so quickly that their relatives did not know where they had gone.

Most of the deaths were caused by the people being hurled against the side of the cars when they toppled over, but a couple met their death by drowning. One little boy was drowned, having been hurled through a window into the river. One woman and a boy, who were apparently leaning out of the window, were caught underneath and their bodies were the last to be recovered.

While the two colonist cars are still lying in about three feet of water where they fell, it is not known that there are any bodies which have not been recovered.

Cause Not Known

One of the officials said that owing to the condition of the track the real cause could not be readily established, but he was inclined to the view that the rails had "kinked" from the action of the sun, and after standing the pressure of locomotive and forward cars, became displaced, causing the other cars to be thrown off.

The commission will make a thorough inquiry, but the facts will also be brought out at the coroner's inquest.

One of the witnesses of the wreck was J. B. Caron, an employee of Mr. Andrew Kellar, who was at work close by. He was watching the train closely, and will be one of the first witnesses at the inquest.

"It was not running very fast," said Mr. Caron. "I don't think more than 25 miles an hour. Some of the children waved their handkerchiefs through the window. Then I noticed the immigrant and colonist cars begin to wobble, and there was a crash as they left the steel. The engine and the first two coaches went ahead and stopped about 100 yards west of the wreck, but the colonist and immigrant cars toppled over on the brink of the bank and then rolled over. I rushed up the bank, but the car was then on its side in the water."

Passenger Tells of Escape

John Boyce, a passenger from Donegal, gave a graphic description of experiences while being taken to St. Luke's Hospital. He was standing at the end of one of the coaches, making some tea, when the crash came. He had taken off his boots, and was enjoying his first meal, when the next thing he knew he was struggling in the water. How he got there, he cannot tell, but surmises that he must have been thrown through the window. He sustained a severe gash, two inches long, under the right eye, besides being badly shaken up. The blow he received in the derailment of the train stunned him, and the cold water revived him sufficiently to enable him to get out of the river. He is reposing quietly at St. Luke's Hospital. He was on his way to meet his cousin, John McBride, 13 Lilly Street, Winnipeg.

Another passenger, Mrs. Robert McCallum, received a badly lacerated forearm, while her children came through without injury, although badly scared. She is from Greenock, Scotland, and was on her way to Calgary to join her husband, who has been there for a couple of years. She said that this trip to Canada had been particularly eventful, as the ship in which she came across, was almost wrecked.

Mr. Frank Stafford, a storekeeper of Barry's Bay, who was a passenger from Ottawa, told of what occurred when the ill-fated train was derailed. Mr. Stafford, who escaped without any injuries of any amount, said:

"I boarded the Winnipeg train at Ottawa at 1:30 p. m. at the Central Station, intending to go to Renfrew. I was seated with a number of friends, and when about four miles out of Ottawa, the train gave a series of jolts and started to cant in an alarming manner. I was flung nearly the length of the car, and the pipe which I was smoking was thrown from my mouth, and I realised that the train was off the track.

Jumps Through Window

"The car was canted to such an extent that I was unable to make my way out of the door, so I jumped through a window. In the car with me were a lady with four children, and four gentlemen whom I knew. I shouted to them to get out of the car, because I was afraid that it would topple over. The gentlemen made to get out all right, but the lady and her children were so badly frightened that they were unable to help themselves, and I had to assist them in getting from the car.

"Two bodies of those who were killed were taken from underneath the car in which I was traveling, and I consider myself lucky that I escaped as I did with a slight hurt. When I got out of the car the sight which met my eyes was heartrending in the extreme. A foreign woman with her two children, were among those who lost their lives. Then again, two little children and their mother, all dead, were taken from the cars which toppled into the river, and a doctor who was administering to the wounded, broke down and cried like a child."

The names of the injured follow: Thos. Phillips, Ireland, not expected to recover; James McNealy, son of Mrs. Jane McNealy, who was killed, not expected to recover; Christian McKeever, young Scottish woman, two fractured ribs; U. E. More Deaths Reported EDMONTON, Alta., June 25.—In addition to the list of dead given in the dispatches of the C. P. R. wreck, H. McLure, a tinsmith of this city, has received a message from his wife, who was en route from Antrim, Ireland, and is now staying at 131 Lorene Avenue, Ottawa, that her two children, a boy aged five years and a girl aged eleven months, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Margaret McLure, were all killed.

Robert McNeilly, whose wife is reported killed, is a carpenter in this city, and the dead woman was another of the party from Antrim, Ireland. With her were their three children.

Official Statement

MONTREAL, June 25.—An official statement by David McNicoll, vice-president of the C. P. R., tonight, gave the number of dead as eight and the injured as numbering thirty. Of these latter some ten or twelve were in a serious condition. No explanation of the wreck has been obtained, and it is only known that the middle portion of the train left the tracks. By midnight it was said the wreckage was cleared and the line repaired, so that it could be used again. The dead had all been removed and the injured were now in hospitals being cared for.

The advices received tonight at the C. P. R. offices gave the following list of the dead, the names of the injured not being yet completed: John Hogg, of Glasgow; Mrs. McNeill, of Glasgow, on way to Edmonton; a woman, name unknown, but address 6368 Broadway, New York; a baby with one of the above women; unidentified boy; John Woodie, of the Orkney Islands, Scotland, on way to Winnipeg; Patrick Mulvaney, of Ballymeny, Ireland; John Pease, whose father lives in Winnipeg.

said, was a disadvantage rather than otherwise to the railways. Later on he said that in arriving at proper conclusions as to rates it was not proper nor advisable to divide a railway into sections.

Mr. Lanigan admitted that in his comparison on revenue to be gained on carload shipment of Canadian goods as between the C. P. R. and the Great Northern Railway he had not taken into account certain mileage rates in force between intermediate points on the Great Northern. Mr. Lanigan explained that these did not apply for the comparative distance quoted.

MESSAGE FROM MINISTER

Hon. R. Rogers Replies to Telegram Protesting Against Statement Made by Mr. Horne-Payne

WINNIPEG, June 25.—Hon. Robert Rogers has wired the Saskatoon Board of Trade as follows:

"Your message to Ottawa has been repeated to me here, regarding statements made by Horne-Payne, and let me say that I entirely agree with the protest which you have registered. What surprised me is that a man like Horne-Payne, who claims to have some standing as a financier, should be so utterly and absolutely ignorant of conditions in Western Canada. Western municipal bonds are deservedly popular in money markets wherever they are known, and it will take a great deal more than the statements of a man like Horne-Payne to affect their good standing. Moreover, this does not excuse him for attempting to misrepresent the business and credit of others when he might better be attending to his own."

ROGERS' PASS TUNNEL

Approach Cuts for Heavy C.P.R. Work Is to Start Within Next Two Weeks

VANCOUVER, June 25.—Construction work in the way of new tracks and approach cuts preliminary to the driving of a C. P. R. double track tunnel over five miles long through Rogers' Pass at the summit of the Selkirk range will be started within a fortnight by Foley, Welch & Stewart, railway contractors. Plant, including steam shovels and general supplies is now being unloaded at the scene of the operations. The entire undertaking, which is estimated to cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, it is expected, will be completed in about three and a half years.

The work will be under the personal supervision of A. C. Dennis, manager of Foley, Welch & Stewart, for the region between the Great Lakes and the Selkirks. Mr. Dennis reached here this morning on business in connection with the erection of the various camps and the ordering of supplies.

WOMAN EXPLORER'S PLANS

Will Endeavor to Visit Indian Tribes in Northern British Columbia and Alaska

NEW YORK, June 25.—Into practically unexplored regions of northern British Columbia and southeastern Alaska, where as yet uncivilized Indian tribes have never seen the face of a white woman, Miss Mary L. Jobe, professor of history in the Normal College of this city, will start a week hence from Prince Rupert, B. C., accompanied only by two Indian guides. Miss Jobe is a veteran of exploration expeditions. She and two other women were with Prof. Herschel Parker when he reached Mount Sanford, the highest mountain in the Selkirk range. Miss Jobe announced her plans tonight and will start west tomorrow. She said the purpose of her expedition was largely ethnological, that she expected to study the traditions, habits, ceremonies and language of the Athabasca or "Carrier" tribe of Indians.

VANCOUVER STORM LOSS

VANCOUVER, June 25.—Twenty thousand dollars' damage was done by Tuesday afternoon's storm, when the rain descended at the rate of three inches per hour. The Vancouver Drug Company lost $5,000 by the flooding of the basement, and Fletcher Bros.' music store basement was so badly drenched that nearly $10,000 worth of gramaphone records was lost.

WINNER WILL MEET BAYLEY ON JULY 4

It is probable that a boxing contest will be held in Port Angeles on July 4 between Joe Bayley and the winner of the Rothus-Shannon bout, which is to be staged at the V. A. C. quarters on Friday night. Word has been received from Port Angeles that the promoters there are anxious to put on such a bout, and a delegation of local men went over yesterday to complete arrangements. This will open out a good chance for either Rothus or Shannon, and hears out the statement made by Bayley's manager to the effect that he intends to keep the Canadian champion in constant action this Summer. Towards the end of July Bayley will meet Freddie Welsh, the British champion, which, if everything goes as expected, will mean three contests in one month for him.

It's two lots really, but you can buy either separately if you can be content with half the frontage. But when you see them, you'll want both.

ANOTHER STEEL CARRIER FIXED

New British Steamship Buena Ventura to Go on Berth in August to Load Cargo for Pacific Great Eastern.

Advices have been received here that the new British steamer Buena Ventura, of the Maple Leaf Line, will load general freight at New York in August for this port and Vancouver, which will include a large shipment of steel rails for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which is at present under construction northward from Vancouver. It is understood that 20,000 tons of steel rails are on order for this railway corporation, and will be brought in regular shipments by the Maple Leaf Line boats.

The British steamer Celtic King, Captain Humphreys, also of the Maple Leaf Line, is now on her way with steel cargo from New York and sugar from Cuba. The Celtic King left New York on April 18, reached Guantanamo April 26, and has since touched at St. Lucia May 7, Rio Janeiro May 26, and Punta Arenas on June 7. She is now making her way up the West Coast of South America.

Making another trip to British Columbia ports, the British steamer Santa Rosalia was under schedule to sail from New York on June 30 with a full load of steel consigned to Victoria and Vancouver.

GOOD PROGRESS ON HUDSON BAY LINE

Chif Engineer Armstrong Tells of Work Being Done at the Pas—Wireless Station to Be Erected.

LE PAS, Man., June 25.—John Armstrong, the chief engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, after denying good humoredly the report announcing his probable resignation and stating that he could not conceive where and how that canard had originated, very willingly answered a number of questions relating to the Hudson Bay road.

"The round-house at The Pas terminals," he said, "will be at first composed of one unit of twelve locomotive stalls, and, as the business increases and accommodation is required, other units will be added, until a number of forty-four stalls is reached. The last unit will comprise only eight stalls on account of the space required for the gate and tracks to enter the building. Boiler rooms, machine shops and other buildings required in connection with terminal work, will be located close to and be connected with the round-house. A large and up-to-date combined coaling, sand and cinder station will also be erected in the vicinity of and in connection with the round-house and machine shops.

Powerful Equipment at Work

"At the present time," said Mr. Armstrong, "the Hudson Bay Construction Company has eight powerful engines with all kinds of cars at work in the yards here at the Big Eddy sand pit, on the ballast and track-laying work and carrying supplies and men. We expect another ballasting gang of sixty men and another shovel.

"The gravel, which we have been fortunate to find at Big Eddy, is the best I ever seen, and I would be delighted if we could find more of the same quality along the line. We can probably utilize the present pit for work up the line as far as Mile Thirty.

"We have 10,000,000 pounds of rails on the way up here somewhere west of Port Arthur. There are 200 cars between Dauphin and Hudson Bay Junction which should arrive directly. Altogether we expect to receive over 50,000 tons of steel and other material and supplies before Fall.

"We use none but eighty-pound rails. Should the work continue to proceed as rapidly and favorably as it is going at present, we should reach Thicket Portage, 185 miles up, with the track this Fall, and possibly go as far as Mile 300. I see a report that Hon. Mr. Cochrane intends to soon visit The Pas and go over whatever portion of the road may have been completed, when he is here. He should be most favorably impressed with the fine appearance of the road once it is ballasted. We are seeing to it that the ballast work, wherever the ground requires it, follows track-laying as closely as possible."

Wireless Telegraphy

Mr. Armstrong was then questioned about the wireless telegraphy station to be erected here in connection with the harbor work at the bay.

"I understand," he said, "that the contractor for the foundations, W. H. Armstrong, has received word that this would be started right away and that the arrival of the Marconi engineer is all that is now lacking for the work to commence.

"This station will be located on the north side of the river, probably on the land reserve on section 21. I understand it will be a most elaborate affair, the cost of which will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. The engines alone will cost almost one-third of this sum. Of course, on account of the many magnetic influences contained in the soil, a land wireless station must necessarily be very powerful. The Pas apparatus, if located on the ocean, would be powerful enough to exchange dispatches with Europe.

"Once the line to the bay is completed, the station will be moved to some other point, as with the ordinary telegraphic facility which we will then have to Port Nelson, it will not further be required."

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR PROVINCE

ment could assist the movement, it would not hesitate to take action. He also promised amendments to the present municipal legislation after the findings and recommendations of the Municipal Commission had been considered.

He spoke of the Government's railway policy. At the present time 3,000 miles of track were being built, which involved a cost of $100,000,000. All of the lines now in course of construction would be completed within two years, and all would materially assist in the expansion of the Province. Every one of these roads, with the exception of the Grand Trunk Pacific, would run into Vancouver.

The Northern Pacific officials had been negotiating with the Government for the use of the Fraser River bridge. Then the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul was bound to come here, too.

The electric railways were expending money as well. The B. C. Electric Railway Company had expendid $40,000,000 in this Province and was still expanding. He had been informed by Mr. William McNeill that the Western Canada Power Company would soon enter the filed as a competitor.

Influx to Province

He predicted that British Columbia would be soon the Mecca of a great trek from all parts of the continent. He did not wish to detract from the achievements of other provinces, but he wished to point out that last year our increase in population had been greater than that of either Alberta or Saskatchewan. What might be expected when the other railways get here? The trek would be beyond anything in the history of the Province. The main thing was to be prepared for this influx. By its railway, road-making and other policies the Government had endeavored to do its part in getting ready. The first pressure of the coming influx would fall on Vancouver, and he knew the city would be ready to do its duty.

Sir Richard quoted a number of statistics to show the rapid progress being made in the Province. The mines turned out $32,500,000 worth of metals last year. The Province received a revenue of $2,000,000 from the timber industry last year. Soon the world would come here for its timber. The fisheries produced last year $15,000,000, as against $5,000,000 ten years ago. The agricultural production last year amounted to $22,000,000, as compared with $7,000,000 ten years ago. He declared that the agricultural policy was not detrimental to settlement. The population was increasing at the rate of 75,000 per annum. The land policy could not be the same as in Alberta, because the configuration of the land was different, and the situation must be worked out differently.

The Dominion Government would spend $6,000,000 this year in British Columbia, and the Provincial Government would spend $8,250,000 for public works, of which $5,000,000 are for roads and bridges.

He advocated the extension of the P. G. E. through the Peace River Valley to the Alaskan boundary as the best means of opening up the far north of the Province, in whose future he had the fullest confidence.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Maxwell Smith, seconded by Mr. John T. Stevens, and heartily honored.

Taught Scholars to Smoke

Although Lord Methuen finds the habit of smoking on the increase among women, it is not so prevalent among children as it used to be. According to John Ashton, under Charles I. it was not only usual for women to join the men in smoking, but in Worcestershire the children went to school with pipes in their satchels, and the schoolmaster called a halt in their studies while they all smoked, he teaching the neophyte. Thomas Hearne records that in the time of the plague of London in 1665, "children were obliged to smoak. I heard Tom Rogers, who was yeoman beadle, say that when the plague raged all the boys were obliged to smoak in the school every morning, and that he was never whipped so much in his life as he was one morning for not smoaking."—London Chronicle.

PRINCESS FLYERS TO CUT SCHEDULE

New C.P.R. Boats Will Reduce the Running Time to Seattle or Vancouver by Thirty Minutes.

WILL BE FASTEST ON ENTIRE COAST

Work of Construction Will Be Rushed to Ensure Their Delivery Early in Exposition Year.

When the speedy turbine Princess fliers are placed in the Canadian-Pacific service on the triangular route early in 1915, the running time between Victoria and Vancouver, and from this port to Seattle will be cut down to three and a half hours. In the contracts recently let to William Denny & Brothers, of Dumbarton, it was stipulated that the two new steamships be built to develop a speed of 22 1-2 knots an hour, under ordinary conditions. The fact that the new Princesses will cut a full thirty minutes off the time now taken by the Princess Victoria or the Princess Charlotte is significant, and only goes to show that the C. P. R. is determined to maintain the reputation gained for the best and fastest Coastal steamer service throughout the entire length of the Pacific Coast.

Big Cost to Get Speed

To gain the extra 3 1-2 knots in speed, it cost the C. P. R. at least $100,000 more for each boat than would have been the case had they been of the 20-knot class. Although the contract price has not been disclosed, it is understood that the cost of these two fliers will be in the immediate vicinity of $2,000,000, the plans calling for vessels of the highest class and superior in every way to the present fast craft plying the triangular route.

Each vessel will be licensed to carry 2,000 passengers, and first-class sleeping accommodations will be provided for 450 persons. Of the cruiser stern type, the new vessels will be 395 feet in length at the waterline, 54 feet beam, and of 5,000 tons gross register. The keels of the new Princess boats will be laid on the Clyde promptly, as the contracts call for their completion by the Fall of next year. These two magnificent craft will be delivered at Victoria, their home port, by the Spring of 1915, and placed in commission to handle the brunt of the rush of traffic that will be started with the opening of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Damaged in Collision

The Norwegian steamer Tordenskjold has arrived at Hamburg with her bow considerably damaged after colliding with the Danish steamer Tranquebar. Part of her cargo has been jettisoned to get the damage above the water. Tenders have been called for repairs, which will be carried out at Hamburg.

The Tordenskjold is well known in these waters, having been formerly operated in the sugar-carrying trade between Java and Vancouver.

After the vessel had been surveyed it was found that about twenty bow plates on each side will have to be renewed and the stem and several plates straightened.

SALVAGE IN SOUTH SEAS

Entire Lumber Cargo of Steamship Knight of St. George May Be Recovered at Nufaulofa

A company of wreckers and salvors is reaping a rich reward in the work of dismantling the once well-known British freighter Knight of St. George, which some two years ago was piled on the reefs of Nufaulofa, while on a voyage from Vancouver, via Victoria, to Australia.

Word was brought by the steamship Marama that the salvage work is still proceeding, with the result that much valuable material has been removed and sold to Australian dealers. When the freighter went ashore she had over a million feet of lumber in her holds, and although the greater part has been recovered, there still remains a quantity aboard. A quantity of the vessel's machinery has been saved, and it is anticipated that the balance of the lumber will be salved. The force of the ocean swell has carried the wreck right on top of the reef.

The under part of the hull is completely torn away by contact with the sharp edges of the coral, but the vessel now lies in a high and dry position.

PLAN ADDITIONS TO HUGE FLEET

C.P.R. Contracting for Construction of Two 20-Knot Steamships for Atlantic Service—Growth of Fleet.

Following the delivery of the Empress of Russia and the completion of the sister ship, Empress of Asia, by the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the company are now taking tenders for the construction of two other large vessels to augment their Atlantic service.

The vessels contemplated are each to have a length of about 550 feet and a sea speed of twenty knots, the turbine propelling machinery being capable of developing 24,000 s.h.p. Notwithstanding the high prices ruling, this is only one of the fairly numerous inquiries for high-class tonnage which are at present occupying the attention of British shipbuilders.

Both Clyde and Tyne firms are quoting for the two new Canadian Pacific boats.

Fleet of Seventy-Seven Vessels

By the addition of these ships the fleet of the Canadian Pacific Company will number, including ships now under construction, seventy-seven vessels. The company operates its own services on the Atlantic and on the Pacific, in addition to maintaining a service on the Great Lakes and the rivers and lakes of British Columbia. The fleet employs 12,000 men ashore and afloat. This large fleet has come into being in thirty years, the company having contracted early in 1883 for the construction on the Clyde of three steel screw steamers for service on the Great Lakes.

The Canadian Pacific Atlantic service was established ten years ago, when, in 1903, the company bought from Elder Dempster & Company fifteen of their finest steamships and established the service from Liverpool, Bristol and London. This was extended in the following year to include Antwerp. In 1906 the Empress of Britain and Empress of Ireland were added to the Liverpool-Canada route. The present year has seen a further expansion in the policy of the company, for last month an additional service was begun to Canada from Trieste, on the Adriatic, and from this port a monthly service is now maintained, which has met with such success as to make it likely that sailings will be increased in the near future. Two vessels are now being built for the Atlantic service by Barclay, Curle & Company, with first-class accommodation for 520 second-class and 1,200 third-class, and cargo capacity of 6,000 tons.

The Pacific service of the company, between Victoria and the Far East, was established in 1887. In 1891 the Empress of India and the Empress of Japan were placed on this service, and to them are this year being added the Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia, two vessels of 16,850 tons and 21 knots.

WHITE LINER IS NEARING COAST

Empress of India Is Steaming Well Within Schedule and Will Arrive In Port Tomorrow From Orient.

Flashing a wireless message to Triangle station yesterday afternoon, the C. P. R. royal mail steamship Empress of India, Captain Hailey, reported her position at noon in latitude 50:41 N., longitude 136.04 W., en route to this port from the Orient.

With good weather helping her along the Empress is expected to reach William Head early tomorrow morning, well within her schedule time. The India left Yokohama on June 15 with a big list of saloon and steerage passengers, and a 3,000-ton cargo of Oriental merchandise, which includes the usual heavy silk shipments consigned overland. Following the Empress of India in the Oriental service is the steamship Monteagle, Captain Davison, which is due to leave Yokohama next Tuesday. The Monteagle has had rather a long stay in the Orient brought about by reason of the advent of the new steamship Empress of Russia to the Pacific route.

Two days behind her schedule, owing to stranding while in the Far East, the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Canada Maru, will put into port during the forenoon on Saturday. Some 150 Chinese passengers are being brought by the steamer, which also has a 7,000-ton cargo for Victoria, Seattle and Tacoma. She will discharge 600 tons at this port.

The Tacoma Maru left Yokohama yesterday for Victoria and is due on July 10.

The steamship Tamba Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, with a large passenger list and cargo, is now eight days out from the Japanese coast and will arrive here next Wednesday.

Keemun Loading Whale Oil

The Blue Funnel liner Keemun has returned to port to load 5000 barrels of whale oil and 200,000 feet of lumber before proceeding to Puget Sound to complete loading for the homeward voyage. She will sail for Seattle tonight.

Stock Markets and Financial News

PRICES DECLINE NEAR THE CLOSE

New York Market Opens With Upward Movement, but the Gains Are Eliminated in Final Hour of Session.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The strong tone of the stock market earlier in the day was marked and stocks sold within narrow limits. Some further progress upward was made, with railroad stocks showing to the best advantage, but in the last hour the market dropped downward and gains were eliminated.

Speculative interest centered in Union Pacific. Speculative buying was influenced by expectations that the Washington authorities will approve the dissolution plan, including the trusteeship proposed for Union Pacific's $90,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock in excess of the amount to be turned over to Pennsylvania. Just before the close came the long-waited news from Washington of the Attorney-General's announcement that an agreement had been reached. The announcement failed to stimulate the market, apparently having been discounted by the recent rise.

Cable reports that fresh hostilities had broken out in the Balkans were partly responsible for the heavy tone of the market toward the close. International stocks were most conspicuous in the downward movement. London, which bought stocks here freely earlier in the week, sold about 15,000 shares today, chiefly Union Pacific.

Bonds were irregular with some of the more important issues lower. Total sales, par value, $1,139,000.

Panama 3's declined ½ on call.

GRAIN MARKETS

WINNIPEG, June 25.—Rains over the Canadian West and dry portions of the United States Spring wheat states, together with Liverpool cables, depressed the wheat market on both sides of the line during the early hours of business. There was a general reaction of prices on the bullish report by Expert Snow, on conditions in the River Valley where the condition of Spring wheat drops from 97 at June 1, to 47 at the present time.

Winnipeg opened ⅝c to ¾c lower and closed ⅛c higher for July and October with December unchanged. Minneapolis opened ⅛ to ⅜c lower, closing ⅝ higher. Chicago opened ⅝c lower, closed unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Cash prices closed unchanged for all contract grades.

Oats were weak in the early hours but strengthened later in sympathy with wheat, while flax was strong and very active.

Tuesday's inspections were 203 cars, of which 103 only were wheat against 508 cars for the corresponding dates last year.

MONTREAL STOCKS

MONTREAL, June 25.—Dealings in stocks here today were of a small scale and price movements were for the most part narrow and meaningless. C. P. R., Montreal Power and Brazilians, which were among the more active features in the forward movement on Tuesday, were represented in the day's business by a combined turnover of only 116 shares, a fair indication of general apathy of the market. Power sold at 212 and closed 211 bid or ½ lower than final bid the previous day. Brazilian after selling ¼ up at 87⅛ in the morning, closed 86⅛ bid as compared with 87¾ the previous day. Such trend as was indicated by these leaders was therefore slightly downward.

LONDON EXCHANGE

LONDON, June 25.—The stock market opened firm and higher today, but speculative issues soon eased off on realizing and the rise in the Netherland Bank rate of 2 per cent. Consols declined three-sixteenths when the increased rate was announced. The closing was dull but foreign and home rails and G. T. shares showed good advances, and the whole market finished above the lowest.

American securities were steady. The general settlement on the stock exchange is being arranged at rates a fraction harder, but it is believed it will be passed over without trouble. Money discount rates were slightly easier.

SEEKING THE TRADE OF BALKAN STATES

Austria-Hungary Finds Question of Credit Very Difficult One Except in the Case of Bulgaria.

VIENNA, June 25.—The principal topic of conversation at present in Vienna is the consolidation of the Balkans. Tradesmen are all anxious to see whether the traditional improvement of business comes after the war. Then another question comes—how far will this affect Austria-Hungary? Then, again, will the gains in any way equalize the losses to trade during the past year? The costs of mobilization and other warlike preparations may be left out of the question, because the Austrians know only too well that these can never be covered.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the various states in the Balkans are in want of everything. Most of the manufactured goods are imported from Austria-Hungary, and, as there has been no trade for nearly a year, they are naturally open to receive goods in large amounts. As a set-off against this, however, a large amount of money has been expended in cannon and other necessities for carrying on a long campaign.

It is a very difficult question to decide how far credit can be extended to the Balkan peoples at any time, and just now the question is especially complex. It is probable that Bulgaria will offer an excellent market and that the Austro-Hugarian tradesmen will have sufficient confidence to carry on business with that country immediately.

Servian Trade Doubtful

The doubt exists among the Austrians, however, that the threat made by Servia to boycott her goods, a threat which has been put into effect to a certain extent, originated in a desire to postpone as long as possible payment for goods already delivered.

Then Servia complains that it has been Austria-Hungary's custom of years to send the worst goods to the Balkans.

New railways are to be built in the peninsula. Here the conflicting interests of Austria and Italy will be seen. Italy hopes to claim a large share of the trade which will now be done with the newly-constructed states. Austria wishes to keep her out as much as possible.

At the same time the antiquated laws regulating commerce which prevail in Austria, the very complicated methods of carrying out the simplest operations, prevent the manufacturer from putting a cheap and reliable class of goods on the market. The textile products of Northern Bohemia are excellent, but the cost is high. The same applies to most of the manufactured goods.

The question of whether foreign competitors will be able to utilize the ports now open to them to cut out Austria, will be seen. In any case it is probable that Austria will have to adopt more businesslike methods to keep pace with her rivals, or leave them the market. The Balkan States have now accomplished their object, that object which Austria tried so persistently to prevent. They have access to the sea, and will soon have the command of money to develop their natural resources.

WHY SIR THOMAS WANTS AMERICA CUP

Racing Only Hobby of Famous Irish Sportsman—States His Prospects of Defeating America

LONDON, June 25.—"Why do I want the America cup? Because it is the blue ribbon of the sea, the greatest sporting event in the world connected with the sea. I want the cup because I want to do something for my country; I want to bring the prize which has been away so long, back to Britain."

Sir Thomas Lipton spoke enthusiastically to a representative of The Metropolitan Press.

"It is more than twenty years since I first thought of winning the America Cup in the days of the Thistle, and for seventeen years I have been preparing. I have had three tries, and I am glad to have another. It has been suggested that I might yet withdraw my challenge and submit another, nominating a cutter built to the limit of size, but I have no such intention. I requested permission to change the size of the challenger from 75 feet to 90 feet on the water line simply in order to give the Americans a choice of weapons—any size boat they like. Nothing will stop the race now, so far as I am concerned not even if the New York Yacht Club should not allow the challenger to be towed across, under certain conditions of weather, as I have requested, instead of crossing under her own sail. I should prefer the former, because there is always the possibility of getting into dead calms and being delayed so long that there would not be time to prepare for the race. Such preparations include the dismantling of the boat, taking out the special ocean rig, which will have been used to take the boat across the Atlantic and substituting the racing rig. Otherwise there are no changes, but still there is the danger that delays may be caused. There are headwinds to be thought of also. The reticence of the New York Yacht Club in discussing the race, which has been remarked, is explained, in my opinion, by the fact that some details still remain to be settled, such as the time of starting, odds and ends of measurement, and so on.

"The race will be conducted under the present American rules, which are much better than the rules under which I have previously raced. They allow for a more seaworthy type of boat. The difference between racing in America and in England, Scotland or Ireland hitherto has been that freak boats—boats not built by any racing rules—have been allowed to race in America, although not in Europe. Next years' racing with a good seaworthy boat will be quite different. I would as soon race in America as anywhere. Everything is done for a yachtman in order to make him feel at home. He is treated with every consideration, and the people are exceedingly kind. Speaking from the experience of several races in America, I have found Americans fair sportsmen. Indeed, I never met better, and if ever a mistake was made it was always in my favor. The weather conditions are a little different in America. The wind is much lighter; it has not so much weight as at home, so that one can carry more sail comfortably. Of course, the wind I want for this occasion is one that will put the Shamrock on a broad reach and leave the other fellow becalmed.

"I have no doubt the Americans will take an even greater interest in the race for the America Cup than they did before. Then they had a little joke. 'Why does Lipton always drink out of a saucer?' 'Because he cannot lift a cup.' As a matter of fact, I suppose I have one of the finest collections of cups in existence. The Americans themselves gave me a gold loving cup in 1899 worth $15,000. No money could replace it, however, on account of the sentimental value I attach to it. The United States sailors of the flagship Olympia also presented me with a cup in 1904, and I won the King's Cup on the Thames in 1908. Last year I won six races out of eight in the international races in Germany. Out of thirty races last year I had twenty-three prizes, and I sailed in every race myself. Sailing is my only hobby. When I was 12 or 14 years old I used to hire a boat for 3d an hour at Rothesay Bay, when I could not get a boat to steer for nothing for other people. My racing costs me a little more now.

"I shall certainly sail over in Shamrock IV. whether she goes under her own sail or is towed by the Erin. And if I win the cup, anyone who likes may defend it for Britain; all I want to do is to bring it back."
